

RALPH MCGILL

The Story of a Pressure Cooker

When I first saw her she was 11 years old. She and three other girls of about that age, were walking in the old castle park at Heidelberg, Germany. It was the winter of 1946.

In 1947 I went back and made a side trip to Heidelberg. Her mother was working in the fields. The girl lived with her grandmother and at 12, looked after two younger children, did the cooking and housework.

Today she is a young lady. Her grandparents are older and feeble, her parents poor. She has no chance at a real future.

She wants to come to America. I think she'd make a good addition.

I have a letter from a young man, a ceramics engineer in Thailand. He wants to come to America.

I have a letter from a student in Rome, Italy. He wants to come to America.

At hand, too, is a letter from Trieste. A Yugoslav wants help to come to America.

A French painter and his wife ask, "Could you help us obtain positions in your country?"

Those are but a few. They must not be looked upon simply as persons who wish to come to America—the land of promise which is almost a fairland to millions who think of it in terms inaccurate and exaggerated.

Living Space

They—and millions like them—point up a problem which we have not yet realized. The Germans talked about it—the Kaiser and Hitler—with the word "Lebensraum"—"Living-space."

Mussolini, who in 1935 had 42,000,000 persons (and more) in France) living on a third as much arable land, wanted Tunis but moved into Ethiopia. Today, again, Italy, France, Germany, Great Britain, Belgium, Holland, Japan—to name but a few—want their geographic, arable land seam.

The British Isles have an area of less than 95,000 miles. About 50,000,000 people live in that space—a population density of 530 persons to the square mile. They have not enough arable land to grow all they eat; they have no oil; they have no raw material resource save coal and copper. France's population is on the rise, a healthy sign. She supports almost 200 persons to the square mile, though her area is twice that of Britain. Heavily industrialized Belgium supports 715 persons to the square mile and the Netherlands, more crowded than ever since the loss of the vast area of Indonesia and the consequent return of colonists, has 621 to the square mile. All Western Europe is squeezed.

Germany, with Eastern Germany lost to the Soviets, has an area not much greater than that of Great Britain. She supports about 520 persons to the square mile. This helps explain, though there are other reasons, her fear that the Saar may be taken away and made an independent unit of government, and divorced from the economic entity of Germany.

Japan, with a rising population, is already a great mistress. We are responsible for her future.

A Picture

All this indicates a picture. It is the picture of a pressure cooker on the stove of international events.

Where are they going... this increasing excess population of the nations outside the Soviet camp?

We draw back. But, our population per square mile is about 47.

South American nations want population—until the moment of decision comes. They, too, are fearful, though their populations are rarely more than 20 to the square mile.

Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Alaska, Central America—there is room.

There is not the will or awareness.

But, populations keep rising. In almost every European country there is great dissatisfaction among the young people. This is not confined to Europe. It lies at the basis of rioting in Egypt.

Is the Western world ready for a daring plan? Would we consider a bold plan to move desirable peoples to areas which will sustain new and additional populations?

The impulsive answer is "No." Yet, let me close with a figure. In India, for example, there are an estimated 14,000 births per day... every day... 385 days per year. In Asian countries it would run as high as on a per capita basis.

It is much, much lower in Western Europe.

But so is the mortality rate. The heat under the pressure cooker constantly increases.

Milk Control Debate Tops Senate Slate

Turnpike Battle Returns to House

Georgia's Legislature enters the last week of its holdover session Monday with the controversial milk control bill facing debate in the Senate and the administration's Senate-amended toll road bill back under fire in the lower chamber.

Also high on the list of hot issues to be decided before the end of the session eight days hence are a bill which would allow bigger and heavier trucks on the highways, Speaker Fred Hand's GEABattled education equalization bill and a controversial pay raise issue.

JOINT COMMITTEE

The administration's toll road issue seems almost certain to end in a joint Senate-House conference committee. The bill calling for a turnpike from Cartersville to the Tennessee line was passed by the House but was "crippled" in the Senate by several amendments. One, which takes away from the proposed turnpike authority the right to lease business space at the turnpike's edge, has been termed "unacceptable" by administration leaders.

Governor Talmadge added that the bill "would never work" as it now stands. It is Talmadge's belief that the turnpike authority cannot operate without absolute authority over roadside concessions. House rejection of the bill seems almost certain, in which case it will go before a conference committee of Senate and House members.

MILK-BILL DEBATE

The Senate, meanwhile, girded for debate on the House-passed bill restoring partial control to the milk control board. The bill would skirt Supreme Court rulings against milk price fixing and allow price limits on products going directly from the sheds to the retailer.

The House faces another big fight later in the week when the Senate's bill to raise the maximum axle limits of freight

Monk Denies He's Bormann, Ex-Hitler Aide

ROME, Feb. 3.—(INS)—A German-born Franciscan monk declared at a Rome monastery Sunday night that he is not Adolf Hitler's aide.

The monk, who is known as Brother Martin, said he had received a letter from the "Moncheur Illustre" on Jan. 24, at which time the question of his identity was mentioned, and he declared that then "I told him I am not Martin Bormann."

Stern, who at one time was staff editor of the New York Herald Tribune, insisted that the monk is Bormann, quoted the brother saying when he encountered him in the Vatican.

"You see I am alive. I do not want to be disturbed," the story, according to Stern, is that Bormann fled from Germany in 1945, going first to Spain and then making his way to Italy 18 months ago.

Soviet '51 Arms Output Tops Tense Year of 1940

GENEVA, Feb. 3.—In an analysis made public Sunday of Soviet economic statistics, the research division of the United Nations economic commission for Europe demolished most of the picture of a peace-loving country devoting its resources to furthering the welfare of its people that Soviet spokesmen have presented to the rest of the world.

In terms of alternate uses of resources foregone to strengthen military power, the study finds that, in 1951, the Soviet Union put two-thirds more into defense than the total volume of resources devoted to defense and to all investment in the rest of its economy in 1937.

In each of the last several years, defense has taken more resources than in 1940, when Soviet preparations for war were going full blast.

This study, forming a chapter in the annual ECE survey of economic developments in Europe, is neither conceived nor written as a propaganda document, being presented wholly within the terms of reference by this United Nations commission as an essential addition to a review of developments elsewhere. Every fact in the study is traced to an official Soviet source.

Within the limitations (which are also advantages) of strict impartiality as to the merits or demerits of the Soviet system, the ECE research division has managed to bring out some significant facts. Basic to most of the study is a careful examination of the implications of the Soviet practice until the last two years of using

Ruth Judd Leaves Cold Trail After 5th Prison Escape

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 3.—(INS)—Winnifred Ruth Judd, Arizona's notorious trunk murderer, was still at large Sunday night following her fifth escape from the insane asylum in which she has been confined for nearly 20 years.

The "Tiger Woman," who was sentenced to die in 1933 for the murder of two nurses, made a well-planned break from the Arizona State Hospital for the Insane Saturday night and vanished without a trace.

In getting out of the hospital grounds, she scaled a nine-foot fence topped by three strands of barbed wire, leading authorities to strongly suspect that she had outside help.

The demented slayer, known for her cunning, left no clues behind and officers said they were at a loss as to where to look for her.

U. S. To Recover Millions On Grain But Faulty Storage Policy's Toll Heavy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A House subcommittee on agriculture reported Sunday that the government will be able to recover most of the millions of dollars lost through unscrupulous practices of grain warehouses, but declared other millions were wasted by a faulty grain storage policy.

Making a report of its inquiry into the multi-billion dollar Commodity Credit Corporation, a government-owned agency, the investigating group, the agricultural subcommittee of the committee on appropriations, did not attempt to estimate the total sum involved in either phase of the inquiry.

Officials have estimated, however, that cheating by warehouse firms operating on a shoe-string or resorting to shady and illegal practices might involve losses from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. Recovery of much of the money is being sought through legal action.

As an example of what investigators found, the subcommittee reported that in Texas alone grain shortages of $3,820,000 were found. Texas elevators and warehouses were reported short 629,305 bushels of wheat and 84,488,500 pounds of grain sorghum.

What aroused the committee in the storage policy was the practice of the CCC of letting private corporations have huge government-owned buildings for nominal rentals and then giving those corporations huge sums for storing government-owned grain.

No fault was found with the administration's farm price support program, the errors being in policy and management, said the subcommittee headed by Representative Whitten (Dem., Miss.). An example cited by the committee of the lease of government-owned facilities to private warehouses was at Camp Crowder, Mo. There the CCC paid more than $382,000 for the storage of grain in 153 government-owned buildings which were leased from the War Assets Administration by Midwest Grain and Storage Co. of Kansas City at an annual rental of $11,470.

The V. M. Harris Grain Co. also stored grain at this place, receiving $290,335 for maintaining the stored grain and operating the warehouses that contained them, but its rental was only $16,713 a year. The Emergency Grain Storage Co. rented facilities at Forbes Airbase, Kan., for $33,965 and

Morris Hit As 'Tool' of Communists

Dupe or Idealist, GOP Solon Says

By JAY WALZ

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Representative Potter (Rep., Mich.) charged Sunday that Newbold Morris, President Truman's new investigator of corruption in government, had let himself be used by Communist front organizations, and should, therefore, "disqualify" himself from any federal service.

Potter, a member of the House un-American activities committee, listed six organizations which he said were subversive and to which he said Morris had been connected or had spoken before. It demonstrated, the Michigan Republican added, that Morris is "either naive to the extreme or a soft-headed idealist whose judgment is most poor."

"ASININE," HE ANSWERS

Morris, the New York lawyer who was formerly president of the City Council, was meanwhile on his way to Washington to take over Monday the new task assigned to him last Friday by the President and Attorney General McGrath.

From his home near Sharon, Conn., where he had spent the week end, Morris was reported to have dismissed the Potter charges as "asinine," and to have asserted that he was not a member of any of the organizations mentioned. As a former public official, however, he may have addressed them during the war, Morris was quoted as saying.

The Potter charges of Communist association were a new tack on criticism of Morris that began on Saturday. Formerly a Republican, including Senators Taft of Ohio and Mundt of South Dakota, and Representative Nixon of California, made statements describing the appointment a "White House phony," and the prospective investigation a "white-wash."

"TO VERY TOP"

From his Connecticut home Saturday night, Morris replied, however, that his search for wrongdoing in the federal establishment would go "to the very top," even if it involved his immediate superior.

Combat Bonus Considered by Russell Unit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Senators are considering some form of extra combat pay for the men and officers who do the front-line fighting in Korea, Senator Russell (Dem., Ga.) said Sunday.

Russell, chairman of the Senate armed services committee, told a reporter combat pay bonuses "will be considered as a new section to the armed services pay increase bill approved by the House." He said there is considerable support for the idea.

Russell's committee ended public hearings last week on the House bill. Top officers of the armed forces all backed the bill, which would grant a 10 per cent boost in pay and allowances to all persons in uniform, from privates and seamen to generals and admirals. It would also apply to those drawing retired pay.

Some Senate committeemen are known to favor an increase of 5 per cent in base pay with larger increases—from 15 to 20 per cent—in allowances for men and officers with dependents.

The Army has proposed combat pay bonuses of $50 a month for enlisted men and non-commissioned officers and $100 a month for officers engaged in actual combat in Korea.

Stormy Career Ends

Harold L. Ickes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Harold L. Ickes, who was secretary of interior throughout the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration, died Sunday night in Emergency Hospital, where he was under treatment for complications of a former arthritic condition. He was 77.

Ickes, in addition to the cabinet post he held from 1932 until 1946, also served as head of the public works administration during the depression years of the Roosevelt New Deal, and during the war he directed the Petroleum Administration for War.

COLORFUL

He was a colorful figure, with a flair for the biting phrase in the use of which he did not spare himself. He called himself "The Old Curmudgeon."

Throughout his public life, he was rarely outside the ring of some controversy, and usually near its center. As public works director he engaged for years in a running feud with the late Harry Hopkins, head of the Works Progress Administration, and a close friend of President Roosevelt.

Both remained within the cabinet circle, however.

Ickes remained in the cabinet for a short while after President Roosevelt's death in 1945. Since that time he had lived a life of more or less retirement at his farm near Olney, Md., a short distance from Washington. He wrote a newspaper column, a number of magazine articles, and a book recalling the days of his stormy career.

He had previously been under care in a Washington hospital, but

GI-Clad Gunman Abducts America Girl in Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A gunman in U. S. Army uniform Sunday night kidnapped an 18-year-old American girl near Hanau and fled with her in a stolen car, military police reported.

All law enforcement agencies in the American zone were immediately alerted to join in the biggest manhunt in postwar German history.

The girl was seized when her two soldier escorts stopped their 1947 Pontiac sedan on a snowy road between Sechenheim and Hanau Sunday night. She was pulled out of the car, and sped off with the terrified girl.

The girl is Mamie Ruth Shelton, adopted daughter of M/Sgt. F. B. Burns, employed at the Frankfurt Ordnance Depot.

Storm Drives Ship Aground; 26 Men Adrift

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A disabled freighter with 26 men aboard was driven aground off North Carolina's wreck-strewn outer banks Sunday night in the face of a freak "hurricane."

The master of the 1600-ton SS Midget radioed at 10 p. m. (EST) that all hands were abandoning ship.

The vessel was sighted by a Coast Guard plane about 20 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras.

The Coast Guard station at Morehead City, N. C., reported that the plane spotted the Midget about one-half mile off shore near Ocracoke. Bad weather prevented determining whether the ship had been abandoned.

Two cutters from the Norfolk, Va., station already were on their way when the distress message came through.

In a 10 p. m. (EST) advisory the Miami weather bureau located the storm about 100 miles south of Cape Hatteras with winds estimated to be near hurricane force just east of the center.

The weather bureau said the storm was continuing to move rapidly in a north-northeast course at about 30 to 35 miles per hour.

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution MOSCOW, Feb. 3.—Why did Pravda, organ of the central committee of the Communist Party, publish the speech of Herbert Hoover that was broadcast throughout the United States on Jan. 27?

The correct answer to that question was being sought Sunday by Moscow diplomats in the belief that it provides not only instructive guidance as to Pravda's analysis of the present world situation but substantial clues as to how the Soviet government expects that situation to develop.

It is unusual for Pravda to publish almost verbatim an address given by a statesman who is regarded, as Pravda phrased it Saturday, as "one of the most rabid initiators of the aggressive policy of the United States."

Furthermore, the Hoover address, as published here, con-

Enemy Agrees To Full Dress Truce Session

Meeting Designed To Set Up Talks On Last Agenda Item

By RUTHERFORD M. FOATS

TOKYO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Allied and Communist staff officers agreed Monday at Panmunjom on a full dress meeting of the Korean armistice negotiators at 10 a. m. Wednesday—the first plenary session since Dec. 4.

The full session, which chief delegates Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy and North Korean Gen. Nam Il will attend, will arrange for a subcommittee to begin immediate discussion of the last item on the truce agenda.

Admiral Joy suggested the last item—recommendations to the governments concerned—be taken up at the same time other groups are working out details of prisoner exchange and supervision of the truce in order to speed end of the war.

ATLANTAN'S PROPOSAL

U. S. Air Force Col. Andrew J. Kinney of Atlanta proposed the plenary session be held Tuesday, but the Reds said they preferred Wednesday and both sides finally agreed on the 10 a. m. (8 p. m., EST Tuesday) meeting.

The development came as the regular negotiators met in an atmosphere of horse trading that indicated they might quickly settle all minor differences and reach a showdown on the two outstanding major obstacles to peace.

The Communists Sunday brought the Panmunjom meetings closer to the showdown—they agreed to begin work at once on the fifth and last item of the truce program and they made concessions on armistice supervision and prisoner exchange.

MAIN ISSUES UNSOLVED

The two main issues unsolved were voluntary repatriation of prisoners and the details of armistice supervision, including the problem of military airfield construction during an armistice. A subcommittee met at 11 a. m. Monday to discuss the prisoner problem. Staff officers met at the same time to work on truce supervision.

There was a "home stretch" feeling in the air at Panmunjom among United Nations personnel, chiefly because the talks had entered the final item phase. But the fact that the two sides were as wide apart as ever on the SAARBRUECKEN, The Saar, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Hermann Roechling, 79-year-old Krupp of the Saar, is on the verge of selling to American interests the remnants of his multimillion-dollar iron and steel kingdom, Saar industrial circles reported Sunday.

Steel Warns Raises Mean New Spiral

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The steel industry goes before a government board here Monday to plead against wage increases for its employees on grounds a hike would touch off a new wave of inflation that could ruin the nation's economy.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Company, leads off the industry case before a special six-man panel of the Wage Stabilization Board set up by President Truman to avoid a strike called by the CIO United Steelworkers for Feb. 23.

The steelworkers told the panel they want a guaranteed annual wage of about $3,000 and a package increase of 30 cents an hour including wage hikes and fringe benefits.

Fairless is expected to tell the panel that any such increase is possible only if coupled with a price increase in vital steel products, which in turn would force other companies to raise both wages and prices.

Fairless has proposed that the union give up its demands for wage increase in return for the industry's giving up its demands for a price increase and is expected to tell the board that is the only sound solution for the present dispute.

CHARGE INROADS
Industry leaders charge the union is spearheading a drive by the CIO to wreck the wage freeze program by refusing to keep its demands within limits set by the WSB.

The union has flatly rejected the industry idea of giving up its wage demands in return for the steel companies' holding the price line. They say the industry can pay higher wages without raising prices, and some government officials have let it be known they agree with the union.

Elizabeth, Duke Take Holiday at Kenya Hideaway

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh embarked on a brief private holiday Sunday at the country hideaway the people of Kenya gave them as a wedding present.

"I cannot tell you how much we are looking forward to it," the princess said at a civic luncheon here Saturday. She described the lodge as "an original and generous gift" and added:

"It will often bring us back to visit you."
The lodge is in the foothills of Mt. Kenya not far from Nyeri. The princess and Philip intend to remain there until Thursday, after which they will continue on a royal tour which will carry them to Australia and New Zealand and home by way of Bermuda.

China Reds Expel 20 White Russians

SAIGON, Indochina, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A group of 20 White Russians expelled by the Communists from China reached Haiphong Sunday from Shanghai. There were two men and 18 women, all between 65 and 90 years of age, in the party.

They said they had been interned by the Communists for three years. Thousands of White Russians and other foreigners still were being held in concentration camps, they added.

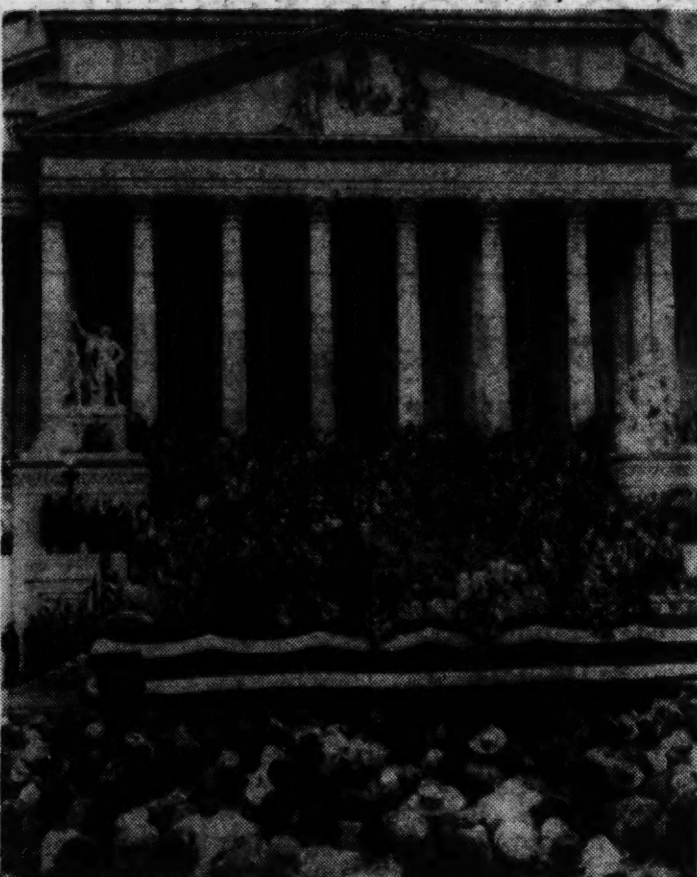

The group, released on account of their great age and feebleness, will be sent to Paris and then to Belgium, where arrangements are being made to give them homes.

"THERE IS A HUNGER FOR GOD TODAY"

A Portion of the Crowd That Heard Graham on Capitol Grounds

Graham Says He'd Win On a Gospel Platform

By ANGUS MACLEAN THURMER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham told a crowd from the steps of the United States Capitol Sunday.

"If I would run for president of the United States today, on a platform of calling the people back to God, back to Christ, back to the Bible, I'd be elected."

"There is a hunger for God today."

The 33-year-old, blonde, wavy haired preacher gave two sermons during the course of an hour-long meeting carried coast-to-coast by the ABC radio network.

In one sermon he asked the U. S. Senate and House to call upon President Truman to set aside a day of prayer—as did President Abraham Lincoln on April 13, 1863—as a "day of confession of sin, humiliation, repentance, and turning to God at this hour."

Graham spoke from the place stand that is erected for the inauguration of Presidents. Mr. Truman, specially invited, did not attend. The crowd filled about half of the paved parking space facing the center steps of the capitol. The staircases leading up to the House and Senate wings of the capitol were liberally dotted with people.

Graham said "this is one of the largest crowds I have had the honor of addressing." William M. (Fishbait) Miller, doorkeeper of the House, told reporters "this is the biggest crowd outside of the inauguration that ever assembled here. I guess there will be 45,000 packed in here."

Other estimates were more conservative, some going down to 20,000 persons.
Before the young preacher arrived, it had been lightly drizzling. The Graham Crusade choir—about 400 strong—stood on the steps above the platform, which was draped with red, white and blue bunting, and sang "Heavenly Sunshine" and "Sunshine in My Soul Today."

In his first address, Graham called for world peace, suggested that America must remain strong for defense, keep its economic stability, continue to expose crime and irregularities, continue confidence in each other, "race with race, creed with creed, color with color."

Bending over his lectern, he shot his hand out, pointing to the crowd.

"Do you think God will spare America?" he asked.
"Just because we've given billions away? Just because we think we're the most moral, have achieved the most in the world? Just because we're big snots? Just because we've got a lot of American dollars?"

"Well, God said—not Billy Graham said, or Billy Graham's God—God said, the Bible said, 'God

Tax Bureau Plan Faces Senate Snag

Move To Reject
It Seen Likely

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Senator Hoey (Dem., N. C.) said Sunday a new move aimed at up-setting President Truman's plan to reorganize the Internal Revenue Bureau "is very likely."

The proposal, described by the President as a step to improve the efficiency of the scandal-ridden tax collecting agency, will become effective at midnight March 14 unless the Senate adopts a resolution rejecting it. Forty-nine senators must vote for such a resolution to reject the plan, already approved by the House.

"I have heard several senators say they are not in favor of it," Hoey told a reporter. "I think a resolution will be offered proposing that we reject it, but it is not yet clear who will introduce the resolution."

PLAN BEFORE COMMITTEE

The plan, submitted after disclosure of income tax scandals in a number of bureau offices, now is before the Senate expenditures committee, of which Hoey is a member. He said he has not decided whether he will fight it, although he is "not entirely satisfied" with some of its features. The measure proposes to abolish the jobs of the 64 politically appointed internal revenue collectors who now run the field service.

It would supplant them with up to 25 district commissioners and 64 deputy district commissioners, who would be under civil service. Only the commissioner of internal revenue would remain subject to political appointment.

HEARING WEDNESDAY

Hearings on the measure will resume Wednesday, with Frederick J. Lawton, director of the budget, among the witnesses.

Committee chairman McClellan (Dem., Ark.) said he has not been told that a resolution to reject the reorganization is on the way, but that "we are acting on the assumption that its rejection will be proposed."

Hoey and some other senators have protested that the President's proposal should specify that the new regional officials should come from the areas they will administer. Revenue collectors are chosen on that basis, but the Treasury department concedes there would be no such provision under the new plan.

Under the law, Congress must accept or reject the proposal as it is written. It has no authority to amend it.

'Back to God' Move

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The national commander of the American Legion called on the group's 4,000,000 Legionnaires and auxiliary members Sunday to "spearhead a movement for the spiritual reawakening of all Americans."

Launching the Legion's nationwide "back to God and go to church movement," Commander Donald R. Wilson addressed several hundred persons at the Chapel of the Four Chaplains. The ceremony was televised.

The ceremony commemorated the ninth anniversary of the deaths of four chaplains who went down with the torpedoed U. S. transport Dorchester after giving up their lifelines to enlisted men.

Huge Boulder Blocks Road To Ski Slide

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—(INS). Three bus loads of skiers were trapped in the snowdrifted Sierra Nevada Mountains Sunday by a granite boulder—the size of a house—which crashed down on U. S. Highway 50, two miles west of Kyburz, Calif.

No one was injured by the landslide, but the huge boulder blocked the road so completely that a man could not even walk around it in the narrow pass. The boulder tumbled down the mountainside shortly before midnight.

The latest disaster to the highway, one of the two main routes over the Sierra Nevada out of California, came while the road was still held in the grip of massive snowdrifts that have blocked through travel for weeks. The three bus loads of skiers went to resorts in the Echo Summit area.

State Division of Highway crews were busy digging a path around the huge granite pile so that the bus passengers may walk around it and be picked up by other busses dispatched from the West.

Antarctic Friction Flares

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution
BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 3.—The British embassy will lodge a formal protest with the Argentine government Monday over armed ejection of British scientists from Graham Land in the Antarctica by the Argentine group stationed there. The embassy spokesman said instructions to lodge the protest "as soon as possible" were received from the foreign office Sunday.

The incident occurred last week when the British group attempted to re-establish an Antarctic base at Hope Bay which was evacuated in 1949.

Leader of the Argentine group at the base ordered the British not to disembark and prevented the landing by firing upon the British.

It is understood here that the Argentine government is showing a conciliatory attitude in talks held thus far with British Charge D'Affaires Richard Allen who will resume them Monday. Ambassador Sir Henry Bradshaw who is currently on vacation is not expected to break it short because of the talks.

With the exception of the independent La Nacion which carried foreign press dispatches of the incident no Argentine paper mentioned the event.

France Plans Import Cut To Halt Rising Deficit

Will Reset Trade Quotas With Europe Payment Union

By LANSING WARREN

PARIS, Feb. 3.—To overcome a rising deficit in the balance of trade and to defend the franc, the French government announced Sunday night it had decided on a drastic cut in imports by the re-establishment of quotas for goods from the other countries of the European Payments Union.

Wood Pulp Price Fixing Charged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A house monopoly subcommittee charged Sunday that international price-fixing agreements have inflated the cost of wood pulp, chief ingredient of newsprint, books and a host of other paper products.

At the same time, the Mutual Security Agency told a special house subcommittee on newsprint that Economic Co-operation Administration funds did not cause increased U. S. exports of sulphur, another important newsprint ingredient.

The monopoly subcommittee charged that American users are faced with high prices mainly because a "Scandinavian pulp cartel," representing mills in Norway, Finland and Sweden, conspired to fix prices for pulp sold within the United States.

The Congressmen also said there is "hearsay evidence" that Canadian pulp producers engaged in price-fixing activities and that individual mills in Sweden even attempted to get U. S. producers to join in similar agreements.

The subcommittee said the Scandinavian cartel was helped in fixing prices by American agents who, with others, organized the Association of American Wood Pulp Importers.

"This association has discussed prices at its meetings, recommended uniform pricing practices to its principals abroad, and served as a 'Scandinavian cartel' transmitting the collective pricing decisions of Scandinavian producers to their agents in the United States," the report said.

The subcommittee charged that the association also tried to prevent importation of pulp from Scandinavia that might disturb its alleged price-fixing activities.

While its evidence on Canadian price fixing is "entirely hearsay," the subcommittee said, "it nevertheless suggests that Canadians . . . have not been guided by the broad principles of the anti-trust laws in their dealings within the United States."

Li Ouster Set By Assembly After Boasts

TAIPEH, Formosa, Feb. 3.—Plans are being made to call an extraordinary session of the National Assembly, probably in March, to oust Li Tsung-jen as vice-president of the Chinese Nationalist government.

The position of vice-president is considered extremely important because he automatically becomes president in the event of the president's death or incapacity.

(The drive to oust Li began recently after two years of drifting along. Reasons for its suddenness have not been detailed by any dispatches from Formosa. So far as is known, President Chiang Kai-shek's health remains good. Chiang is 65. Li, now 61, went to New York in December, 1949, for treatment of an ulcer, and has remained there since.)

The Control Yuan, top Nationalist body, voted impeachment charges against Li last month, and the ruling Kuomintang party declared he had forfeited his party membership.

Li aroused censure here by his claim from New York in December, 1951, to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's position as president of the republic and by his assertion that he intended to supplant Chiang.

The controversy goes back to the time Chiang stepped aside as president in January, 1949, and named Li acting president to permit him to try to make peace with the Communists. Instead, by the end of that year the Communists had overrun all the Chinese mainland. Chiang resumed the national presidency on Formosa, while Li went to the United States.

Georgia War Dead Among 369 on Way From Korea

The bodies of six Georgians are among the 369 American war dead who are being returned to the United States aboard the Loma Victory, the Department of Defense announced Sunday.

The ship is expected to arrive at San Francisco Monday. The Georgia soldiers who lost their lives in Korean fighting are Pfc. Robert C. Butler, husband of Mrs. Corinne G. Butler, 139 Fellwood Homes, Savannah; Sgt. Billy L. Freeman, brother of Mrs. Elizabeth F. Reed, Rt. 5, Rome; Cpl. Arthur M. Smith, son of Freddie Smith, Rt. 1, McDonough; Cpl. William H. Whigham, son of James M. Whigham, Rt. 1, Hilton; Cpl. Joseph Williams, son of Bill Williams, 1019 Dryer Ave., Columbus; Pvt. Tony N. Williams, son of George Williams, 615 Cemetery St., Bainbridge.

France thereby will temporarily abandon, just as Britain has done, the policy of the liberation of trade, which was a foremost aim of the Marshall Plan. However, the action will be taken on the condition that when the deficit has dwindled the quotas again will be removed.

The import cuts will affect all products except certain raw materials and essential foods. France had removed the quotas from 75 per cent of all her trade with the European Union countries.

INVOKES ESCAPE CLAUSE
Robert Buron, Minister for Information, said after the cabinet meeting that the organization for European Economic Co-operation would be formally notified of the French decision Tuesday. The action will be taken in accordance with the escape clause in the EPU agreement that permits this when the trade deficit of a member country becomes critical.

Buron said the French action would not solve the important question of French imports from the United States. The French believe that if the $600,000,000 in economic and military aid promised to France for the year ending July 1, 1952, should not be forthcoming they will face a serious problem. The aim of cutting down purchases from European countries will be to enable France to use all her dollar resources for buying mainly oil and coal from the dollar zone.

COUNT ON U. S. SPENDING
None of the experts here believes that France can raise the full $600,000,000 needed since a large part of the funds would depend on United States military spending in France which is just getting under way.

The reason for the French government's decision to make the drastic import cuts, it was explained, was the fact that the present deficit in the European Payments Union requires France to make repayments 40 per cent in gold. If the deficit increases it would mean that at the end of February France must pay 60 per cent in gold.

China Police Head Calls Staff Crooks

HONG KONG, Feb. 3.—The boss of Red China's secret police has accused more than 80 per cent of his administrative personnel of corruption, the official Communist paper, Peiping People's Daily, reported in the Jan. 17 issue, just received here.

The paper carried a long account of a public accusation and confession meeting Jan. 16, which it said 6,000 ministry employees were required to attend.

A Tientsin Red paper of the same date reported that a similar all-department mass meeting and broadcast in Tientsin attracted 30,000 participants or listeners, and produced oral and written accusations against 34,840 persons, many of them telephoned in by radio listeners.

The procedure evidently is part of a general tightening up recently noted in the Communist regime, using the favored Red device of self-accusation.

The Peiping meeting, confined to the Public Security Ministry (secret police), apparently was smaller but more significant.

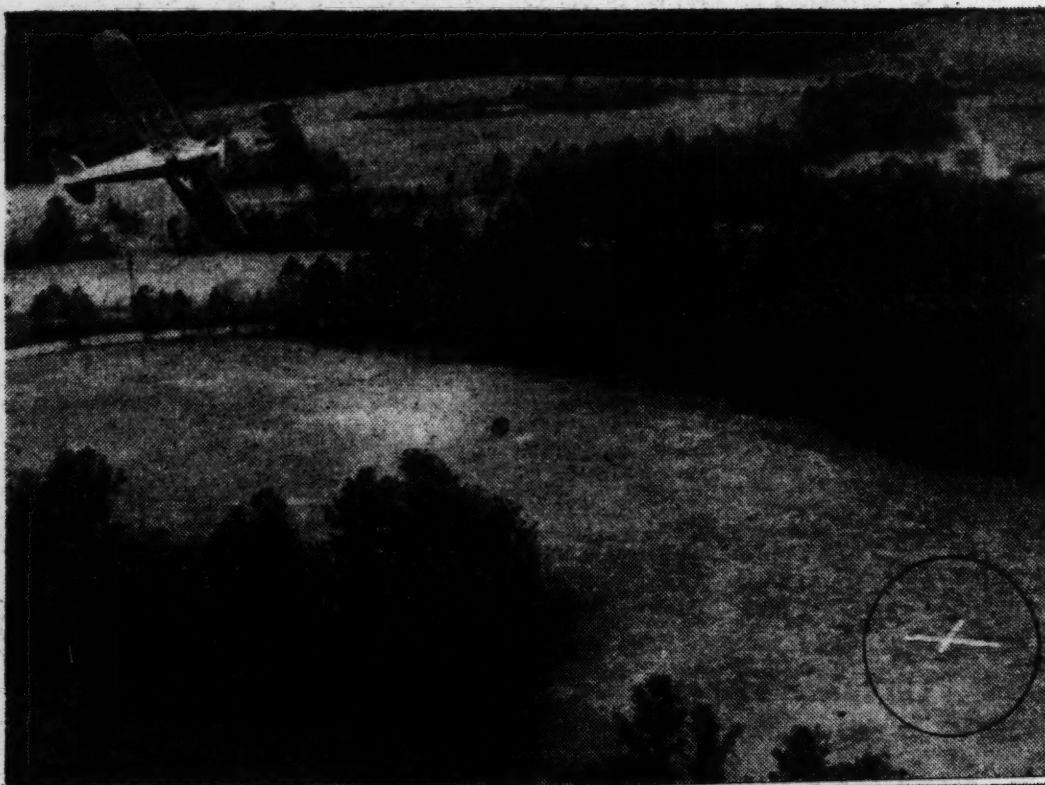

The People's Daily said the Peiping session centered on corruption of three officers named Sung Te-kuei, Liu Yu-chih and Hsiao Shun-ho. It did not disclose their positions.

The three were accused of getting a rake-off equivalent to 45,000 U. S. dollars on a Manchurian timber deal with three Peiping and Tientsin lumber firms. The wives of Sung and Liu both said they were getting divorces.

British Give Newcomer Malay Helm

SINGAPORE, Feb. 3.—Britain took a bold gamble Sunday in a "new broom" policy for beating Red terrorism in Malaya. She appointed a new British administrator with no previous Malayan experience in hopes he will "bring a fresh line to bear on the many complexities" in this strategic tin and rubber producing country.

London announced the appointment of Donald Charles MacGillivray, now colonial secretary to Jamaica, as the new Deputy High Commissioner for the Malayan Federation. His job will be to direct civil affairs under the newly appointed high commissioner, Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, strong-arm military man who was named last month to lead the war against the Red guerrillas.

Move South Bid Called Blackmail

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—The rank and file of American Woolen Co. workers flatly rejected demands for cuts in fringe benefits at mass meetings throughout New England Sunday as a CIO spokesman labeled company threats to move South "a form of blackmail."

Largest of the series of union meetings was held at Lawrence where some 4,000 of the 10,000 members of Local 227, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), crowded into Central Catholic High School's auditorium to vote down point-by-point the 15 cost-cutting proposals made by Francis W. White, president of the company.

John Chupka, director of the union's woolen and worsted division, said that if White "insists on his 15-point program" workers at 21 American Woolen's 24 New England mills will go on strike.

Meanwhile, George Baldanzi, executive vice-president of the TWUA, said at Providence, R. I., that "ultimatums" issued by the American Woolen Co. and other New England textile manufacturers that they will move South unless labor costs are cut are "a form of blackmail, but it will not succeed."

Baldanzi said that "for all its wailing . . . American Woolen made seven times as much money for the first nine months of 1951 as it did for the same period in 1950. Company profits for the nine-month 1951 period were $21,700,000 before taxes, compared with $3,190,000 for the same period of 1950, he said.

Answering White's contention that work loads must be increased and fringe benefits cut to keep the company from moving South, Baldanzi said: "We reject the slanderous charge that New England textile workers are not doing an honest day's work. . . . We will not underwrite management's ineptitude by wage cuts or by giving up vacations, overtime or shift premiums, or holidays with pay—or any other hard-won fringe benefits."

Conciliators Grapple With Truck Strike

The first attempt by federal conciliators to settle differences between motor freight operators and AFL truckers striking in 10 Southern states ended in Memphis Sunday with mediators reporting "no new developments."

The talks are scheduled to continue Monday. Both sides said they would stand pat on their final wage offers, the main stumbling block in negotiations.

Meanwhile, the three-day-old strike had virtually paralyzed Atlanta's trucking terminals and tied up movements of motor freight all over the South.

B. M. Self, spokesman for operators here, said many Georgia towns served primarily by union trucking lines are probably already feeling the effects of the strike.

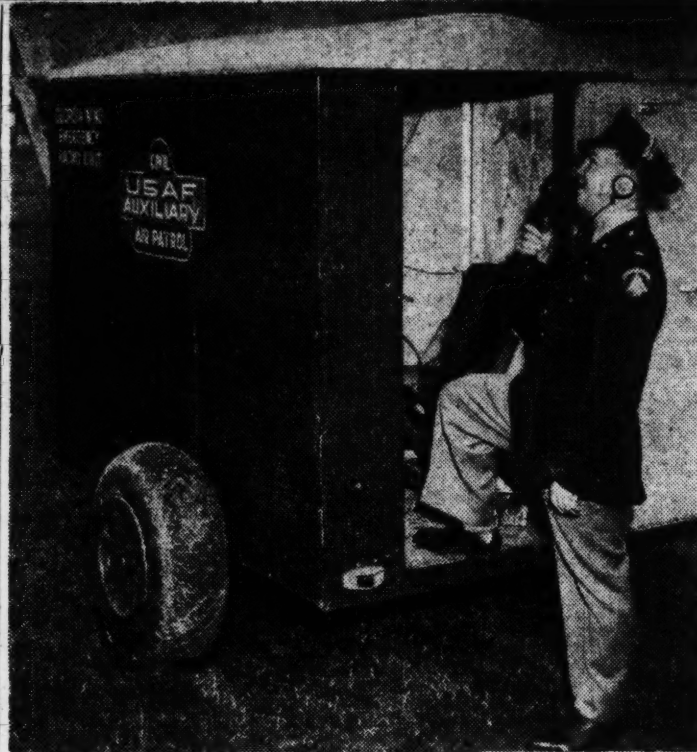

Atlanta is a switching point for motor freight to and from points all over the nation, but virtually no shipments are being received for interchange here, Self explained.

Although most of the terminals in Atlanta are cleared, one company reported that it had 30 or 35 loaded trucks idle at its depot here. The same company has about 200 loaded trucks tied up at other points, including a truck containing medical serums in Nashville.

Chicago Truckers Win 31-Cent Hike

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Four thousand Chicago AFL truck terminal dockmen Saturday night accepted a 31 cents an hour wage increase and will go back to work immediately. They went on strike midnight Thursday.

The dockers, members of the AFL Teamsters' Union, approved the wage increase and other contract terms Sunday night after their representatives met with federal mediator William J. Murray and the Chicago truck terminal operators.

AIR RESCUE—Civil Air Patrol teams using 15 planes in a simulated air rescue search Sunday combed an area 40 by 50 miles and located a "lost" plane in three and a half hours. Pictured at top is the plane of Rudy Mantel and Lt. Burns W. Ivey, senior members of Atlanta Squad One, CAP, first to locate the "crash" (circled above). In the lower picture, Lt. M. M. Eisenburg, at the radio, directs search planes. The exercise was part of a day-long maneuver for the Atlanta unit.

Theater Ballet Dancers Score Brilliant Triumph

By PAUL JONES

The Sadler's Wells Theater Ballet, sister company to the widely publicized Covent Garden group which took America by storm last year, demonstrated here Sunday that the name Sadler's Wells stands for rare excellence in dancing—no matter which unit is performing.

Before the delightful performance Saturday night of "Coppelia" there were some doubts whether the Theater unit would perform with the same brilliance which had marked the dancing of the Covent Garden Ballet. Elaine Fifield, beautiful and talented star of the Theater company quickly dispelled all doubt.

The diversified Sunday matinee and night programs gave the Theater dancers ample opportunity to show off their repertoire, which is composed mainly of the light, gay and "showy" ballet numbers. The matinee program, possibly the most delightful of the Sunday concert featured the popular Casse Noisette, with Pauline Harrop, Robert Lunnion, Marvyn Lane and Pirmil Trecu as the principal dancers.

The first scene, The Kingdom of Ice, lacked some of the sparkle and precision timing which characterized most of this unit's work, but the Kingdom of Sweets scene, with its gaily costumed dancers, sprightly musical themes and varied dancing patterns, brought encore after encore from the excited audience.

The "Tea From China" and "Coffee From Spain" bits were as imaginative as a Lilly Dache hat. All dancers performed in the second scene with rare enthusiasm and skill.

A change of pace was offered after the first curtain when Ninette de Valois' dramatic ballet, "The Haunted Ballroom," brought back memories of that great movie, "The Red Shoes." Themes of the movie and this ballet parallel when dancing brings death to both principal dancers. Annette Page, David Poole and Svetlana Beriosova were superb in this sequence.

The matinee ballet closed with the colorful "Pineapple Polli" which was first performed last year. The Gilbert and Sullivan music provided an interesting background for this gay interpretation.

'The Eye of the Hurricane'

Each month the Sixth Federal Reserve Bank issues a monthly review. It is well done and also has a definite literary style which makes it readable.

The issue for January, just out, is entitled "The Eye of the Hurricane."

That's where America now is. The hurricane of inflation didn't blow us down, although we bent before it. But the worst didn't happen. No one, not even the economists, knows why.

All the ingredients for continued inflationary processes were at hand in 1951. Personal income topped an annual rate of $257,000,000,000 in October. But in the last three quarters of the year came a lull—the eye of the hurricane. The upward spiral halted. The economy momentarily attained a balance. The destructive forces were held in abeyance.

If we go out after higher prices in 1952, we will be "courting disaster." We will be overwhelmed as the lull ends and the worst of the hurricane reaches us.

The Review finds 1951 much like 1950, saying:

"The public reacted (to war) as might have been expected. There was a mad rush for goods by the consumer and by businessmen. The seasonally adjusted department store sales index that had stood at 298 in June, 1950, rose to 325 in December and reached its highest point in January, 1951, when it touched 362. Department store inventories likewise increased, with the index rising from 276 in June, 1950, to 329 in December, and continuing to rise until it reached its highest point at 377 in April 1951.

"Bank loans at all commercial banks rose from $44,800,000,000 in June 1950 to $52,200,000,000 in December of that year. Consumer credit outstanding increased by nearly $2,000,000,000 in the same period, and the privately held money supply about $7,000,000,000. Personal income increased from an annual rate (reasonably adjusted) of $219,000,000,000 in June 1950 to $244,400,000,000 in December. Personal consumption expenditures that ran at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $184,700,000,000 in the first quarter of 1950 rose to $202,500,000,000 in the third quarter and, after subsiding to $198,400,000,000 in the fourth quarter, rose to a high point of $208,200,000,000 in the first quarter of 1951."

The year 1951 carried on this feverish activity until the last three months. The free enterprise system had proved its strength, again surprising itself and the world by its ability to turn out goods and services, to carry on war in Korea and to aid to our Allies. Shortages did not materialize.

The Federal Reserve Bank sees the cour-geous tax program, and credit restrictions as responsible for a lull in the storm, saying:

"No one, of course, likes taxes, and there has been much complaint about the present tax burden. It is said to be so heavy that it tends to discourage initiative. Nevertheless, it is perfectly obvious that when incomes grow faster than the output of goods and services available to the public, the excess income must either be saved in non-inflationary forms, or taxed away, else its purchasing power will evaporate by way of rising prices. Of these three alternatives, the last is by far the most dangerous and destructive to the economy. Insofar as Congress has adopted the second of these alternatives, it has lessened the danger of the third."

The Federal Reserve Bank concludes in a summation which should be put in the forefront of the mind of everyone... labor, management, professional men, white collar workers, and housewives. It says:

"In these early days of 1952, one cannot escape wondering if we can maintain our present position until the storm blows itself out or if, in the end, we shall have to suffer its fury. It would be trite to say that 1952 is a critical year. Every year is critical for the one following it. But 1952 is truly critical in a very special way. Of one thing we can be certain—as certain as we can be of anything: The dangers in every field—political, military, and economic—will be greater than ever. Military spending promises to mount and the government's cash deficit will probably be several times larger in the next fiscal year than in this. Every group in the economy—agriculture, labor, business, and all the others—will be sorely tempted to extract the highest price it can get for what it has to sell. The buying public in turn may be tempted to spend a larger fraction of its current income than it has been doing, and, perhaps, to throw past savings into the market in a scramble for goods.

"Inflation, like sin, always seems evil when seen in someone else. It often looks fair when it is our own. If our own price is free to rise, we are quite willing for the other fellow's to be controlled. If many of us yield to this temptation to get higher prices for ourselves, we shall certainly be courting disaster. Safety in 1952, as in 1951, will be achieved only by the combined efforts of everyone, working together in a high spirit of social responsibility, and with a willingness to forego the immediate and temporary advantage of the individual or group for the sake of the more remote but more permanent good of all."

That makes sense—so much so we may fall and invite the hurricane.

Small Private Hospitals Suggested As Antidote for Socialized Medicine

Stoneville, N. C.—Hospital care is a problem that affects every individual, whether rich or poor, and has broad social, economic and political considerations. A committee of social-minded citizens in North Carolina has been formed to make a study of hospital care. The study is aimed at finding the best means of providing good hospital care at the lowest possible cost.

It is an understatement to say that the average citizen cannot afford hospital care. During last year this writer saw an aged couple place a mortgage on their small home to meet their hospital expenses. (It was then I decided to write the papers.)

To avoid or postpone socialized medicine every city and state in the Union should begin in a wholehearted way to do something about this serious problem.

The way out may lie in the ability (or willingness) of the community to build small hospitals in proximity to the larger hospitals and medical centers to be leased for private operation. A privately managed hospital, like any other individual business, could operate with less expense than the larger institution nearby yet have the advantage of medical science from the larger institution. Our small hospitals take care of their guests for much less than the larger hospitals. The principle should work in hospital care.

Free People Have Right to Voice

Atlanta—When Lincoln made his famous Gettysburg address, he said: "And the government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

For many years the state of Georgia has abided by this policy. The people of Georgia have enjoyed the privilege of voting for any candidate of their choice whether he be Democrat or Republican. We see no reason why this privilege should be taken from them now.

We are writing this letter because we feel that free people, large or small, have the right to have a voice in our government!

Pharmacy Board Record Upheld

Statesboro—In the Sunday, Jan. 27, issue of The Atlanta Journal-Constitution an article was carried by M. L. St. John which because of its implications should be commented upon.

This column was a general indictment of the state examining boards, stating that many boards were failing applicants in order to stifle competition. I can speak only for the Board of Pharmacy and certainly this indictment is not true of this board.

In the past three years the Board of Pharmacy has examined 429 applicants, of that number there were 12 failures. I feel this shows conclusively that on the part of the Board of Pharmacy there is certainly no effort to hold down the number of pharmacists and thereby hold down competition.

'Amen' to Building Atlanta Properly

Atlanta—Please allow me to say "amen" to this excellent idea about building Atlanta the way she should be. Why don't we hold on to this broadminded man, Mr. Zerkendorf, who sees it as it should be?

Let's start planning Atlanta the way she should be and remember too that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." All business and commerce might make us a dull city.

Coin-in-Slot TV Programs?

Marietta—I often wonder just what conception sponsors of TV programs have of the viewing public. Could it be they have us classified as simple, childminded humans or hopeless morons?

Viewers had rather have coin slots on TV and pay for programs than be put through the modern, medieval torture of TV commercials. Perhaps the federal government should step in and check all commercials for veracity, brevity, etc.

A Rhyme a Day

"Salesman who peddled inflammable sweaters cannot be located by victims."—News quote.

One time a "drummer" came to call... when I was just a lad... he got grandpa out in the hall... and showed him what he had... the old man bought a lightning rod... and paid ten dollars down... the drummer went off to Cape Cod... or to some inland town... By this transaction we were taught... some things I can't forget... the lightning rod grandfather bought... ain't been delivered yet.

High-powered salesmen have a phrase... called "turning on the heat"... some are quite honest in their ways... but some of them will cheat... therefore, I think it best to keep... such people from the door... for you can get it just as cheap... at any corner store.

Experience is the only school... where this fact can be learned... "unless you treat a peddler cool... you're likely to be burned."

Boy From Gum Log Covers City Beat

The Capital City papers maintain chains of reporters or "stringers" throughout the state. That is not unusual. But for a weekly gazette in a town of 1,766 to have an Atlanta correspondent, is column material. The paper is The Lavonia Times, published by Mr. and Mrs. James F. Little in the town of the same name, about six miles from the Carolina line, in Franklin County. The Times' Atlanta reporter is T. R. Crawford.

Native of Gum Log in Franklin County, Correspondent Crawford is a manufacturers' agent who lives at 306 Sinclair Ave., Atlanta. From 1914 to 1928 he ran a store in Lavonia and also taught singing schools in three states.

As a youngster, Mr. Crawford started sending in the "dots" from Gum Log to the Lavonia paper. When he moved to Atlanta 16 years ago, he kept up with his correspondence.

Between trips for his company, this 63-year-old Atlantan gets around town and turns up items like this:

"On driving up 10th Street recently, it was a pleasure to have Mr. Lynn Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lee Smith of Lavonia, keep his eyes on your correspondent until he found a parking place. Lynn says he, too, is from the well-known place called Gum Log and is proud of it. Lynn is working at an up-to-date restaurant on 10th Street at Peachtree.

"Also, Mr. Lynn Smith says he has the finest baby sitter in Atlanta and that she is also from Franklin County. Her name is Mrs. Mary E. Jackson and was formerly Miss Wansley from near Carnesville."

He covers the hospital beat to report on Franklin Countians who are under the weather. He calls on Fulton County's solicitor-general, Paul Webb, to learn that the incumbent will be a candidate for re-election. And he throws in a little philosophy by commenting that folks would live longer, by "eating two-thirds longer or two-thirds less food."

Publishers Little and Little comment that the Crawford column is greatly enjoyed by Times' subscribers. That's easy to understand. They have something "different" in a reporter who keeps up with hometown boys and girls who are making good in the big city.

The Littles say T. R. Crawford loves people and that with him meeting new folks is a hobby. That's why he's a good reporter. Journalism lost a good active full-time member when this man went off peddling paint, paint brushes and allied products instead of pushing a pencil.

Right To Vote Is Priceless Heritage

NEW YORK—Are you audibly angry over the corruption in the Truman administration? Are you openly determined to rout the rascal and pack Harry off to retirement in Independence? Or are you among those who think and say that Taft is a dangerous isolationist, a menace to U. S. labor, and a disgraceable-looking square who could not win a dog-catcher's race on a national scale?

Perchance, do you wax indignant when confronted by a supporter of General Eisenhower or General MacArthur and shout that their years of military life make them thoroughly unsuited to hold an important civilian office?

Do you think and say that Warren, Stassen, Kefauver, Stevenson, Vinson and others who have one or two feet in the presidential race ought to crawl back into the woodwork?

Well, before you go to bed tonight, thank the Good Lord that you live in a country where you can say anything you wish about the candidates; where you can vote for the man of your choice; where you don't have to beg anyone's permission to speak your mind; where you can close the curtain before you pull the lever, and where if anybody tries to interfere with your independent action he'll be tossed into the clink.

You and I are entering upon a truly inspiring period of our lives. We are manifesting our freedom in the most intrinsic manner. We are engaged in honest difference of opinion, to be peacefully settled on Nov. 4. These are the deeply imbedded rocks on which this nation securely rests.

The eyes of tens of millions in the captive countries look hungrily upon us in this time in our lives and pray for the day when they may have this blessing, which so many of us take for granted.

Great Victory For the South

The new classifications and freight rate schedules, which grant equality and uniformity to all sections of the nation east of the Rocky Mountains, are slated to go into effect May 30. They represent a great victory for the South, which has lost billions through the years in actual and potential commercial and industrial wealth through discriminatory practices.

They represent an even greater victory, however, for an organization which has received little of the publicity and less of the credit for its untiring work in fighting the unjust handicaps imposed upon the South. We are speaking of the Freight Bureau of Atlanta, an independent organization of shippers which first took up the battle against the inequalities penalizing Georgia and the South as far back as 1902.

This untiring work, the facts and figures compiled through the years, the indisputable arguments for erasing the discrimination, and the actual leadership in the fight were provided by this organization sparked by the late Bolling Jones. The present chairman of the board of the organization, John M. Cooper, has been associated with the fight for more than 35 years. One of the greatest figures in the fight was E. L. Hart, who, as secretary and traffic manager of the bureau, brought his great knowledge and study of the problem through the years into the endless battle until his death three months ago.

The Freight Bureau, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Hart and others associated with the organization, provided the moving spirit which resulted in the calling by Gov. E. D. Rivers of the first Southeastern Governors' Freight Rate Conference, the forerunner of the present Southern Governors' Conference. This brought the whole Southeast into a co-ordinated unit in fighting for justice for the Southern shipper and the Southern citizen.

The Constitution congratulates the Atlanta Freight Rate Bureau and the hard-fighting corps of men who have fought the battle relentlessly to victory. The entire Southland is indebted to them. In promoting the battle against all commercial barriers between states, the entire nation is also indebted to them.

Is Churchill Victim Of Influence, Too?

Prime Minister Churchill has revealed to Parliament that he and Foreign Secretary Eden received free rides to and from the United States on their recent trip aboard the Cunard Line's Queen Mary.

Could it be that the crusty old statesman has fallen victim to some kind of influence racket? Can we hear the echoes of the deep freeze, mink coats, free hotel rooms and other gift takers?

It seems to us that the House of Commons should at least conduct an investigation, with television cameras awhirl. However, in view of the fact that the over-all expenses of the British mission of 35 which accompanied Churchill and Eden were only $41,000, it probably will be dropped. After all, Churchill did bring back a $300,000,000 American loan. If influence played a part, he got the better part of the bargain.

Some Election Bills That Should Be Law

While the General Assembly has been agitating itself over an electors measure that would sew up the state's presidential ballots, a series of good measures have been lying dormant in the House.

They are the CEKLOR "clean election" bills, proposals which made effective would help guarantee the integrity of the ballot box in our primary elections.

No one opposes them. Who dares oppose clean casting and counting of the votes?

Let's get them out and pass them. Time's a-wastin'!

The Man's Luck Made a Left Turn

He should have known better. Surely his mama told him there would be days like that.

Not Only Biggest, But Sloppiest

WASHINGTON—Uncle Samuel, as you doubtless have read before this, is the world's biggest storekeeper. He's also the world's sloppiest. Keeps all the wrong stuff on the right shelves, while his inventory records are in such a shambles that he's wasting at least a billion dollars a year of our money. That's official. It isn't Othman talking. So now we've got almost 4,000 men, mostly military, working on a catalogue of the stuff Uncle buys. This is a herculean job. I'll list maybe four or five million different items, but at least they'll only be listed once—and there's a good chance we'll know where they're stacked. This should be helpful.

Admiral Joseph Fowler, in charge of compiling the master catalogue for the munitions board, was telling the House executive expenditures committee some of the fantastic things he discovered in our topsy-turvy general store. Take blinds, he said.

He discovered that the various procurement agencies had established 12,000 different categories of window shades.

"Of course," continued the big, bluff and bald Admiral, "this does not include Venetian blinds. There are 9,000 different listings of these."

He went on to tell about the Navy's eight bins of bushings, which are bearings for motors. Some of these bushings cost $5. Some cost $65. You can imagine the surprise of the admiral's assistants when they discovered that all eight batches of bushings were identical.

"Some in bins only five feet apart," he continued. Rep. M. G. Burnside (Dem., W. V.) said that wasn't the way he heard it. There weren't eight stores of duplicate bushings under different catalogue lists, but 208.

Correct, agreed Admiral Fowler. Eight in the Navy, 200 in the possession of other outfits using bushings.

He said he's seen a good deal in the newspapers lately about the duplications, the peculiar prices paid for similar materials, and the general confusion between various purchasing agents. The reporters who dug out these facts, he said, hadn't seen anything yet.

They discovered, for instance, that the military services had between them at least 15,000 categories of lumber. Some of them suggested that a war could be won easier, perhaps, with fewer grades of lumber. The admiral sighed.

His research indicated that there were 200,000 separate listings of lumber. Many of these

A Brooklyn boy, Bernard M. Brodsky, has become an Eagle Scout at the age of 12, which makes him one of the youngest Scouts ever certified for that rating by the Boy Scouts of America. To become an Eagle Scout requires not only passing the basic scouting tests but qualifying also for 21 merit badges in specific subjects, such as life saving, cooking, civics, bird study, handicraft, and athletics.

One of the best features of young "Bernie's" accomplishment is his comment: "It was not so much the rank of Eagle Scout that I worked for. It was the knowledge I had to acquire in order to get the different badges which made the Eagle Scout rank so important to me." That attitude is to be commended in many other activities.

Seclusion will end for DeKalb counties whose rural retreats have been hidden from the tax receiver. The airplane has smoked them out, and this may mean a break for the rest of the citizenry.

Air maps of the county used in the current DeKalb property re-evaluation program are turning up so much property not listed for taxation that the 1952 tax digest may increase enough to allow a lower tax rate, Commissioner Scott Candler says.

Also figuring in the tax equalization program, expected to be completed by March, is the re-evaluation of property that is now returned at less than its value in comparison with other properties in the county, Candler adds.

DeKalb is probably the first county in Georgia to use aerial photography extensively for tax mapping, according to W. A. Johnson, director of the DeKalb survey being conducted by Cole-Lay-Trumble Co., a Dayton, Ohio, appraising firm. Some Georgia cities, including Decatur, have used the air-mapping system, he says.

EVERY FOOT MAPPED

Every square foot of land in the county has been mapped from the air for the survey, Johnson says. Tracings are made of large reproductions of the aerial photographs for maps of congested areas. The photographs themselves are used as maps for rural properties, with the property lines drawn in with red pencils.

After a piece of property is identified on the map by deeds and recorded on the map, a member of the 13-man appraisal staff makes a field study of the tract, noting such factors as topography, improvements, streets and trends of the section. Any building on the property, residential or commercial, is studied for such construction details as size, material used, interior and exterior construction and improvements.

The field man returns to the property a second time to check his appraisal in relation to adjoining properties, Johnson continues. He says that, in the 21 months of the survey, his staff will have appraised approximately 30,000 parcels in the county, excluding Decatur and Atlanta.

APPRAISAL CARDS

All the information on which the appraisal is based, is put on permanent appraisal cards and filed with the maps in the tax assessor's office, where a specially trained county employee will keep them up to date and make additions.

The appraisals are based on the type of construction and materials and what they cost in 1941, Johnson explains. He emphasized that the 1941 cost, and so the appraisals, are not meant to represent the present market value of the property, but is used only as a "yardstick" by which the value of all property can be measured in relation to other properties in the county.

Heretofore, Candler says, property was assessed on the amount the property owner returned as its value. The assessors had inadequate means of checking whether property was returned at its true value or whether it was returned at all.

EFFECTS ON DIGEST

The commissioner tells how the re-evaluation will affect DeKalb's tax digest.

A sample of 1,565 properties re-evaluated was studied. For an example, 50 per cent of the new figures were considered as the assessment. Some of the new assessments were higher than the present assessments, some were lower and some were the same, but the digest for the sample was $10,889,725, compared with $10,646,345 for present assessments, a difference of $243,380.

"Those with higher assessments would be dissatisfied, and those with lower assessments would be pleased, but they would all pay equal taxes in relation to the value of their property," Candler comments.

And, if the rest of the estimated 30,000 properties showed a similar difference, the DeKalb tax digest would be increased by almost five million dollars.

Episcopal Churches Gain Membership

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

In Georgia today the number of communicants in the Protestant Episcopal Church is close to 20,000, of which total some 12,250 are members of the 46 Episcopal churches constituting the Diocese of Atlanta.

The Rev. Sidney Hopson, diocese chairman of missions, reports notable progress during 1951 throughout the diocese. At Covington, where the Church of the Good Shepherd was organized in 1951, membership has increased 150 per cent. At St. Martins in the Fields at Oglethorpe University, organized by the late Bishop John Moore Walker, 104 were present at the first service and the growing membership is now planning the erection of a sanctuary.

The Atlanta Holy Innocents Church has become self-supporting, and the Griffin St. Stephens Church expended $750 in improvements. The Cornelia Calvary Episcopal Church was organized last November with 20 members and is growing, as are also the Stone Mountain, St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church, organized a few months previously.

The Macon St. Matthew's Mission, organized by the late Negro priest, the Rev. John Henry Brown, has been revived and is preparing for erection of a church sanctuary as a memorial to the late Bishop Walker.

A. L. Bailey, assistant treasurer of the Cathedral of Atlanta's St. Philip's Episcopal Church, reports pledges are now being made in the Diocese of Atlanta's 46 churches for the 1952 budget, with a grand total of askings amounting to $134,386, of which amount $99,488 is for missionary work at home and abroad, and $34,900 for support of the Episcopate.

As of Feb. 1, 41 churches had made pledges amounting to 91.2 per cent of the total askings. Six of the churches making pledges oversubscribed their quotas, while 14 made decreases. Five churches have not yet made pledges.

Last year the total quotas amounted to $83,439, with payment of $82,778. Ten churches of the Diocese of Atlanta last year overpaid their quotas.

Bishops of Three States Endorse College Merger

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

Methodist bishops from three states have endorsed a plan to merge the colleges of the African Methodist Episcopal Churches. Bishops J. A. Claybourne of Tennessee, W. A. Fountain of Alabama and S. L. Greene of Georgia spoke out in favor of the merger at the two-day annual Georgia state meeting held recently in Macon.

They favored the plan as the "most feasible means to meet the high standard of modern education." However, the colleges are controlled by trustees of the states in which the schools are located and any final action must come from these trustees.

In another action, the conference passed a resolution asking the return of Bishop Greene to Georgia and addressed the request to the general conference which will meet in Chicago May 7.

Electric Vest Keeps King George Warm

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Sunday Express said Sunday that King George is wearing an electric vest.

The King has been wearing the heated vest on doctor's orders during recent outdoor trips, the paper said. The vest is made of khaki silk and ribbed with wires which receive electricity from a small battery.

The King's condition has been a matter of concern since he underwent an operation for removal of part or all of one of his lungs last September.

Pastor Says Good Intent Lighten Burden, Fix Needs

By R. B. GIFFIN

Good Intentions received praise at church Sunday, for a change. "All of us," said the Rev. T. Cecil Myers, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, Washington St. and Trinity Ave., S. W., "know our burdens, our confusion, and our need. Before we may be rid of them, we must have the intention—the well-considered choice."

Basing his communion meditation on Christ's miracle of the healing of the woman who had an issue of blood, he told a graphic story of the conversion of one of the Doolittle flyers after his capture and torture in a Japanese prison camp.

The young flyer's intention, to give his life to his Lord, resulted in a new life for him and his future bride. Ultimately it led to the conversion of the worst of the Japanese tormentors, a Captain Cato.

Trinity Methodist is one of the original downtown churches. It was one of the five which were saved from Sherman's torches. The present building was erected in 1912.

The stranger coming into Trinity, is met by several officers of the church, identified by their white carnations. The minister wore one in his lapel in the pulpit.

COMFORTABLE PEWS

The sanctuary is grand, solid and secure in its atmosphere. The beamed ceiling is a full 50 feet overhead. The pews and altar woodwork are magnificent solid walnut. The pew cushions are covered with heavy brocade—old, but very comfortable.

The Rev. Mr. Myers, who is in his first year at Trinity, is leading a new spirit in the church. Sunday night Lawrence Blair, newly appointed scoutmaster, organized the Boy Scout troop.

The school is growing and aims next week for an attendance of 225. More than 100 new members have come into the church this year.

At the close of Sunday's service a young couple came to the altar at the invitation of the minister to become members. The minister took the time after church to shake hands with them and make them welcome.

The Junior choir made its debut Sunday, singing an antiphonal arrangement with the church choir of Bach's "Jesus, Joyance of My Soul." Then they came down and stayed for church. Fully a quarter of the congregation were young people, children, couples, and an orderly line of boys across the front pew center. One of them came to Mr. Myers after the service, thanking him for "that good sermon."

Trinity's music is excellent. The solo was sung by Paul Garnett, a student at Tech, whose strong baritone voice carried well. At the time for the communion service, Mr. Myers called up three student preachers from Emory, who assisted him in the prayers and with the bread and wine in the Lord's Supper. This is an experience valued by these young ministers who thus get training for the time when they will have

Brookhaven Library Bids For Expenses

The Brookhaven Public Library will launch a fund-raising campaign Monday to obtain operating expenses for 1952. Robert C. Lowe, president of the library and mayor of North Atlanta, announced.

Lowe said the library's board of directors had established a budget of $1,800 to cover the librarian's salary, heat, light, janitor service and miscellaneous expenses.

He explained the library was established in February, 1951, as a nonprofit organization to serve the entire north DeKalb County area. He said the library receives no operating funds from the county or other governmental branches at the present time.

The public will be asked to contribute to the cost of maintenance by paying a minimum of $1 each for membership cards. He said the cards designating members as "Friends of the Library" would be distributed by various civic organizations in the area as well as by schools and parent-teacher associations. Business firms also will be asked to contribute.

The committee charged with raising the needed funds hopes to raise the total amount by Feb. 23, when the library plans to hold an open house.

All organizations in the Brookhaven-North Atlanta planning council will participate in the fund-raising campaign.

Members of the board of directors of the library are Lowe, president; F. W. Haas, A. D. Wilburn, Mrs. Clayton Ray, Mrs. H. C. Stewart, Mrs. Frank Etheridge, G. A. Wehant, Mrs. John Kell Martin Sr., the Rev. Louis Kennedy, and Mrs. Wilfred Gregson.

'Alert America' Defense Exhibit Set Feb. 24-28

Clubs, church groups, labor unions and other organizations are co-operating to promote interest in the "Alert America" exhibit at the Municipal Auditorium Feb. 24-28. Mack Tucker, chairman of the Civil Defense committee of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, said Sunday.

Tucker said the junior chamber, sponsoring organization is being assisted by Ernest Vandiver, Georgia Civil Defense director, and his staff, and George M. "Pup" Phillips, Atlanta area Civil Defense director, in making plans for the exhibit which depicts the destructive power of the atomic bomb and the role of Civil Defense.

The "Alert America" caravan, created by the Valley Forge Foundation, is designed, Tucker said, to show the people of Atlanta "how to save lives and minimize property destruction in the event of an attack."

MAKE THIS HOME RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

It's simple. It's amazing. how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yours. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of Liquid ANAXO Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Thomas' First Big Kill

There has been no greater struggle for life than Frank Thomas' battle to survive. It began as he retired in bad health from active coaching at Alabama after the 1946 football season. There were none of the dramatic moments that come of athletic conflict. But there have been times, as the lion-hearted gentleman fought first one disease and then another and saw his stout body ravaged, that there were cheers for the man in the fight. For he is one of the South's most cherished sons of the North.

The legacy of life around East Chicago and Gary, Indiana, is slight. It's an industrial belt around Lake Michigan's paunch, and it's as tough as the steel its belching mills turn out. This was Frank Thomas' boyhood ground.

From there to Notre Dame, to Georgia, to Chattanooga, to Georgia again and then to Alabama—this was his athletic itinerary. They say there was a marked reflection of his presence or absence in the offensive performances of Georgia backfields in his days as an assistant.

When Duke called for Wallace Wade, Alabama put in a call for Thomas, and the young man from Notre Dame picked up where Wade left off. Alabama continued among the giants, and Thomas spread the university's New Year's Day business about to the Sugar, Cotton and Orange Bowls.

There may come great and unlimited successes, but somehow the first is always the sweetest, for it represents the crossing of a new frontier. I would guess it's strictly a guess—that as he retires now from the Alabama athletic directorship, that Frank Thomas would set aside as the peak of personal satisfaction his first Rose Bowl visitation. He went that season with some great weapons, established them, and still holding its ground as the most famed of all Crimson Tide combinations—Howell to Hutson.

This is a cheap means to a column, but I've just come from reading the Associated Press story of Alabama's 29-13 victory over Stanford, Jan. 1, 1952. I was impressed. So were the Californians. I believe you will get a nostalgic kick or two from reading it again yourself.

Aerial Sleight of Hand and Casping Stanfords

"Aerial sleight of hand met football power on the ground today and 85,000 excited spectators saw legendarily win as Alabama defeated Stanford, 29-13. The visitors from the South put on the greatest exhibition of forward passing seen in the 20-year history of the Rose Bowl. They had nothing to match the tremendous drive of the losers but they tossed the ball with an accuracy that left the record-breaking crowd—and Stanford players—gasping for breath.

"The Crimson Tide compiled the amazing record of completing 10 out of 13 attempted passes for 210 yards.

"With the exception of one 67-yard sprint for a touchdown by Millard (Dixie) Howell, all the counters were scored or made possible by an astonishingly effective overhead attack. The capacity crowd first cheered and then marveled as Howell threw pass after pass into the hands of his receivers, principally Don Hutson, Paul Bryant and Jim Angelich. To complete a busy day, Howell did some sensational punting.

"Alabama won the game in a second quarter packed with action. Stanford was ahead by virtue of a first-period touchdown, when, without warning, the game exploded in the Indians' faces. In 15 minutes, the leads from Tuscaloosa piled up 22 points—three touchdowns and a field goal.

"Bobby Grayson was the big cog in Stanford's offensive. . . . The big rose-decorated stands were spotted with volunteer alumni from every Southern state. They helped the 2,500 Alabama supporters who came all the way from home to cheer the Crimson victory and whooped it up after the game as the bands played 'Dixie.' "Alabama didn't get started in the first period, but the second found it under way. Howell began passing the Alabama receiver were there to catch his throws and Alabama scored. The goal was missed and Stanford held its lead.

The Figures Wouldn't Win a Prize These Days

"The Crimson took the kickoff, marched down to the five-yard line, and when Stanford stopped three plays, Riley Smith booted a field goal to take the lead. Following the next kickoff, Howell made his amazing 67-yard run on the third play and the amazing Southerners had scored two touchdowns and a field goal without giving up the ball.

"Stanford led in first downs, 14 to 12. Alabama gained more ground from combined passes and rushes, 333 to 290. Stanford's power gave it the rushing advantage, 204 to 167.

"Howell was the outstanding performer on the field. He passed, ran, kicked, intercepted passes, backed up the ends and tackled in the open. Howell gained 111 yards rushing. The game showed the stands some great end play by Hutson and Bryant. . . . Besides Howell, Hutson, Bryant, Angelich and Smith, this was the Alabama team of Bill Lee, the wrestler, and Jim Whately, the Georgia line coach, at tackles; Charlie Marr and Bob Ed Morrow at guards; Kay Francis at center, and Joe Domyanovich at fullback. Charley Boswell, who was to lose his sight in the war, came on at a tackle, and among the sub backs were Joe Riley, now an SEC official, and Happy Campbell, now backfield coach at Alabama.

Those statistics wouldn't keep the modern football coach in business. Time and the change to the doped-up game have reduced old miracles to common fodder. But the thrill of the kill, his first big one, must have set Frank Thomas off a great deal.

Williams Wins Title At Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 3.—Henry Williams Jr., a golf pro who looks like a professor, played it safe Sunday and won the $10,000 Tucson Open. His one-over-par 71 gave him a 72-hole total of 274 and his first major golf victory.

A shot that stuck in a tree 15 feet above the ground was blamed by Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., for costing him the title. The ex-dentist had a 67 Sunday for a total of 276, two strokes behind the 35-year-old Williams.

Bravely Skeg, Kregel, Tulsa, Okla., missed a short putt on the 18th to take a 73 for a total of 278 and third place.

For the second day, a tricky wind swept across the flat 6,402-yard par 70 El Rio golf and country club course to send scores soaring. Williams' total was the highest to win in the eight-year history of the event.

Henry Williams Jr., 63-65-60-61-274 ($2,000); Cary Middlecoff, 65-70-74-67-276 ($1,000); Skeg Kregel, 68-66-72-70-278 ($1,000); Joe Moore Jr., 70-63-76-70-279 ($770); Frank Stranahan, 71-61-66-68-279 ($600); John Palmer, 72-68-70-71-281 ($450); Doug Ford, 71-69-72-70-281 ($450); Tom Shaw, 71-71-72-68-282 ($275); Ernie Ball, 70-67-73-72-282 ($275); John Bulla, 71-69-68-74-283 ($163.33); Bill Nary, 71-70-71-71-283 ($163.33); Jim Perrier, 73-70-68-74-283 ($163.33); Jim Jackson, Bradley, 69-69-72-72-284 ($140); Mike Demsey, 73-69-72-72-286 ($110); Leland Gibson, 73-69-72-72-286 ($110); Julius Ross, 71-68-74-73-286 ($110); Tom Bolt, 70-72-74-73-287 ($80); Earl Stewart Jr., 68-69-78-72-287 ($80); Lawson Little, 68-69-78-72-287 ($80); Ed Furgol, 72-64-71-81-288 ($53.33).

Dodgers Lose Again; $25,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Brooklyn District Attorney's office is probing a $25,000 shortage from ticket sales during the 1951 baseball season of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Chief assistant district attorney Edward Silver said Sunday night that the shortage was reported to him on Tuesday by Dodger President Walter O'Malley.

Silver said he was told the shortage showed up during a routine audit. The ball club's receipts are insured.

Among Dodger employees questioned was John F. Collins, the club's 53-year-old business manager.

Collins described the feverish round-the-clock activities of the post-season baseball days last fall, when more than $3,000,000 had to be refunded after the New York Giants beat the Dodgers in the play-off for the National League pennant.

Silver and assistant district attorney J. Kenneth McCabe, assigned to the case, both emphasizing that neither Collins nor anybody else is under suspicion at this point.

Collins, reported to have resigned last week, has agreed to stay around until the situation is cleared up.

Iowa Athletic Aide Resigns

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Feb. 3.—Ben Douglas, 42, assistant football and basketball coach at the University of Iowa the last two years, Sunday announced his resignation from the University athletic staff.

Douglas said he will leave at the end of the basketball season to enter private business as a representative for a St. Louis firm. He declined to disclose the company's name.

Douglas formerly coached Colorado College, Missouri School of Mines, Cornell, Cornell College and Maplewood High School in St. Louis.

SEC STAR OF WEEK

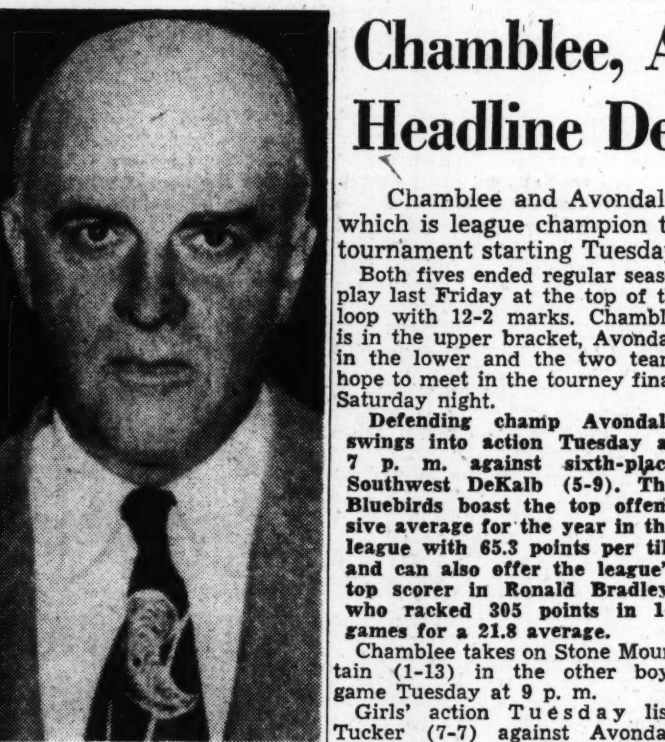

'Spark' of Ramsey Beat Notre Dame

Frank Ramsey is the most unenthusiastic-appearing public figure since Step 'n' Fetchit. But he is a whale of a lot better athlete, and his nonchalance is purely facial. Kentucky's 6-3 eastern Conference basketball Star of the Week for general yearlong brilliance, and particularly his inspirational play that sparked Kentucky's defeat of Notre Dame Saturday night.

Ramsey averages some 16 points, is an excellent rebounder and feeder, and has met few superior defensive players. Against Tech here this year, he scored 27 points. In the intersectional affair with Notre Dame, he fired 24, was a backboard big shot and overall pacemaker.

The Constitution chooses the weekly Star from nominations of SEC coaches, who submit the name of their own outstanding player. Previous Stars have been Florida's Rick Casares, Ole Miss' Bob Jarvis, Kentucky's Cliff Hagan, Alabama's Paul Sullivan, and LSU's Joe Dean and Bob Pettit, the latter twice.

Chamblee, Avondale Headline DeKalb Meet

Chamblee and Avondale hope to settle the question of which is league champion this week in the DeKalb County tournament starting Tuesday at Stone Mountain.

Both fives ended regular season play last Friday at the top of the loop with 12-2 marks. Chamblee is in the upper bracket, Avondale in the lower and the two teams hope to meet in the tourney finals Saturday night.

Defending champ Avondale swings into action Tuesday at 7 p. m. against sixth-place Southwest DeKalb (5-9). The Bluebirds boast the top offensive average for the year in the league with 65.3 points per tilt and can also offer the league's top scorer in Ronald Bradley, who racked 305 points in 14 games for a 21.8 average.

Chamblee takes on Stone Mountain (1-13) in the other boys' game Tuesday at 9 p. m.

Girls' action Tuesday lists Tucker (7-7) against Avondale (3-11) at 8 p. m. and second-place Clarkston (11-3) versus Chamblee (4-10) at 8 p. m. Clarkston's Joyce Barneau topped girl scorers with 325 points in 14 games for a 23.2 median.

The remaining teams open tournament play Wednesday with girls' defending champion Druid Hills in the spotlight at 8 p. m. against last-place Stone Mountain (3-11). The Druids captured the regular-season crown with a 13-1 record and were the top offensive and defensive sextet in the feminine division.

Clemson Tops SC Net Play

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 3.—Clemson, Wofford and Presbyterian held top places in state college basketball circles Sunday with but four more weeks in the 14-week season.

Clemson leads the Big Four, Wofford the Little Five and Presbyterian has the best percentage in overall won-loss records.

Clemson can just about back into the Big Four title—during this week's 16-game schedule for state quintets—if Furman beats South Carolina in their Thursday night meeting at Columbia.

If South Carolina wins, the title game will be the final one of the season—South Carolina at Clemson Feb. 28. A South Carolina loss to Furman would mean the worst Clemson could do would be a tie for the title, even if South Carolina should beat Clemson Feb. 28.

Bengals Here Against Tech

Soph Pettit Makes First Local Showing Tonight

By EDWIN POPE

Atlanta, or a minute percentage thereof, gets its first glance at the new virtuoso of Southeastern Conference basketball when Louisiana State comes in against Georgia Tech at 8:15 Monday night.

The "look" is only 40 minutes but it is bound to be a long one; this sophomore is six feet nine inches tall, second scorer nationally, holder of two all-time SEC records—Bob Pettit.

While LSU offers another player with solid class in Capt. Joe Dean, Pettit is the glamour guy. All you have to do to see why is look, like Al Smith said, at the record. Pettit is blasting at 25.5 points per game, has not gone under 10 yet. Vanderbilt held him to that total a month ago, and it is worth noting that the Commodores also contained Pete Silas, a Pettit foe Monday night, at five points Saturday night.

The precocious Pettit, son of a Baton Rouge hardware dealer, belted down two SEC records, one of them already his, in one enchanted evening against Georgia, when he scored 50 points, including 22 field goals.

Dean, a two-time all-conference guard, is averaging 18.9 points—higher than any previous LSU median. Considering that terrific one-two kick, LSU's 4-5 SEC record, and its two losses last week to Ole Miss and Tulane, the Tigs are due for another eruption.

Tech carries into this game a 1-6 conference record, but an improving combination. Main reason has been the resurgence of Capt. Teeter Umstead. He burst from the offensive bonfire with 64 points in the last three games.

Coach Whack Hyder probably will line up Silas, an 18-point per-game man at the pivot. Sophomore Bill Sennett and Bobby Barnes play forward, and Umstead and either freshman Phil Taylor or junior Peden Templeton are the guards.

Ned Clark, a product of Darlington School at Rome, is a first-string Tiger forward as a freshman. He is paired off with Pettit, and their playmates will be Dean and Bobby Yates at guards, and either Byron Johnson or Bob Freshley at center.

On the long-range view, the local week is warm also in that it brings Tech and Georgia together in Athens on Wednesday. Despite doubly dismal showings, the rivalry has lost none of its pungency. Georgia is host to Alabama Friday night, and Tech silks its scared snout into the Kentucky Wildcats' den at Lexington Saturday night.

Thirteen SEC games are up during the next six days. For one thing, they promise to enhance Kentucky's 8-0, first-place ranking. The Cats have not lost on their own court in better than 119 engagements. Tulane, second at 6-2, and Ole Miss, fourth at 6-3, are this week's prospective victims before Tech.

Florida reached the end of the rainbow Saturday night in a road loss to Ole Miss which dropped the Gators to third (5-2). Little better things are promised, with

PETTIT, HAGAN LEAD

Vance, Ramsey Gain In SEC Scoring Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisiana State's fabulous sophomore Bob Pettit retained his lead in Southeastern Conference scoring during the week with a 25.5 average that also was second best in the nation.

Pettit scored 47 points in two games, bringing his total to 383 points in 15 games. Kentucky's Cliff Hagan tossed in 64 points in three games and has a higher total—403—but his average is 21.2 for 19 games.

Cory Vance, Mississippi State center, had a big week—51 points in two games—and climbed into third place with a total of 311 points in 15 games for a 20.7 average. Vance displaced Tulane center Don Holt, who played only once and dropped to fifth place with 298 points, a 17.5 average.

Kentucky's Frank Ramsey, who scored 24 points in leading the Wildcats to victory over Notre Dame Saturday night, edged past Holt with a 29.9-point total. These were accumulated in 19 games for a 15.7 average.

Joe Dean, LSU, 282 in 15 games; Bob Jarvis, Mississippi, 282 in 17; Bobby Watkins, Georgia Tech, 268 in 19; Ed Sullivan, Alabama, 248 in 14; Ken Robinson, Mississippi, 227 in 14; and Pete Silas, Georgia Tech, 227 in 14.

Country Jeff, Ach So Top Club Trials

By JIMMY WALKER

STOCKBRIDGE, Feb. 3.—Rough Country Jeff and Ach So took the all-age and shooting-dog silverware here Sunday, as Stone Mountain Field Trial Club completed its amateur stakes, begun here Saturday morning with the running of a puppy stake followed by the derby.

Ach So owned by L. Col. Curtis L. Hankins of Fort McPherson, had three finds, but it was his excellent race that won him the shooting-dog event. Although not remaining staunch after his birds were flushed, the white-and-lemon pointer dog worked his finds carefully.

Earlier in the day John O'Neill Jr. of Knoxville, Tenn., and often a field trial judge himself, heard his Rough Country Jeff singled out as the all-age top performer. Jeff, a white-and-liver-colored dog, had two well-handled finds as well as a good race.

Hixhill Peerless Diamond, owned by Mike Jennings of Columbus, placed second in the all-age, while Tyson's Mill, owned by E. P. Hix of Coffee Springs, Ala., took third. It was the third straight stake in which the Alabama dog had placed. She had already won the derby and ran second in the puppy stake Saturday.

Behind Ach So were two Atlanta dogs, Jake's Willing Dog, owned by Grace Maher, and Lucky, owned by Joe Pratt, finishing in that order. Fourteen dogs were entered in the all-age, 12 ran in the shooting-dog stake.

'$250,000 Or Else,' Says Walcott Manager; Cardinals Sign Munger

Condensed From Wirephoto

The manager of heavyweight champion Joe Walcott met Sunday with promoter Jim Norris and said he demanded a $250,000 guarantee for the next title fight or he would sign with a Los Angeles promoter.

Norris, president of the International Boxing Club who says he holds contracts with Walcott for the champion's next fight, refused comment immediately.

"$250,000 Or Else . . .," Felix Bocchiechio said after a meeting with Norris. "That's the figure promised us for a fight with Harry Matthews on the West coast."

St. Louis Cardinals passed the halfway mark in their contract drive with the signing of pitchers Red Munger and Octavio Rubert. Munger was 4-6 with the Cards last year, Rubert 19-5 with Houston.

Catcher Wes Westrum signed with the New York Giants, 24th clubman to come to terms.

Bruce Hamilton, California, will serve as head coach of the U. S. Olympic track team, the Olympic committee announced in Chicago.

The Olympic committee is still short some $50,000 of the $150,000 needed to finance American athletes in the Winter games starting at Oslo Feb. 14, secretary Asa Bushnell said.

Australia's Frank Sedgman and a United States trio of Straight Clark, Doris Hart and Shirley Fry head an international field which will start play Monday in the Asian tennis championships at Colombo, Ceylon. Sedgman is honeymooning in Ceylon, and his wife, the former Jean Spence, will try for the women's singles title.

Old Story: Wildcats Lead Stretch Run

Blue Grassmen Show Class,
Rally To Topple Irish, 71-66

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The college basketball season heads into the long home stretch with the tried and tested thoroughbreds from Kentucky once again leading the race for national honors.

Voted back to the top of the Associated Press poll of the nation's 10 best teams, the Wildcats showed their class Saturday night by coming from behind for a 71-66 victory over an upstart Notre Dame team. The defending NCAA champions faltered in the early going, but came on with a rush when Frank Ramsey scored 14 of Kentucky's 18 points in a spurt that brought the Wildcats from a 35-39 deficit to a 53-49 lead.

The champs were getting a run for their money in the race for national honors, however, and the challenge came from Kansas State, the team they whipped in the NCAA final last March. The K-State speedsters, ranked right behind Kentucky in the poll, ran Colorado into the floor for a 92-40 victory which boosted their season mark to 14-3. Kentucky, incidentally, is 17-2.

Illinois' tall team, which set the poll pace for a time and now is running in the show position, faltered momentarily, but regained stride to outlast Ohio State, 66-62. The victory, which preserved the clean Big 10 record of the Illini, was achieved largely on the rebounding and scoring of 6-9 John Kerr, who put Illinois ahead 64-62 with the last of his 20 points just before the end.

The rest of the top ten field was strung out behind the leaders, with the two major unbeaten colleges still moving fast on the outside. St. Bonaventure's, in fifth spot, soundly whacked Loyola of Chicago, 79-48, for No. 13 in a row, and Duquesne, ranked seventh, invaded Westminster to gain an 81-60 victory and 14-0 season slate.

Only top ten team to lose was tenth-rated West Virginia, which bowed to Penn State, 61-60, on the Mountaineers' home court.

FROM GRID TO COURT

Morocco Puts Zip In Bulldog Attack

By BILL COULTER

Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, Feb. 4.—One of the main reasons behind Georgia's previously listless basketball five's improvement is the sterling floor play and ball-hawking of fiery junior guard Zippy Morocco.

Leading Bulldog grid scorer with 36 points as a shifty left half-back, the 5-10 dark-haired native of Youngstown, Ohio, finds nothing novice about the hardwood sport.

With the advent of the peppery Zip in the starting line-up against Tennessee last Tuesday night, the Bulldogs began making up for a hitherto dismal season. They dropped a close game to the Volunteers, 68-62, Morocco getting 11 points in Coach Harbin Lawson's charges' best showing of the season.

Georgia went one step further in redemption Friday night as it pushed South Carolina into an overtime session before defeat, 61-62. Morocco hit again for 12 counters.

The scrappy little guard first gained basketball recognition as an all-state forward at Ursuline High in Youngstown, where he was hailed as the best prep back since Georgia's all-American immortal Frankie Sinkwich. It was only natural that Zip follow such fellow townsmen as Sinkwich, George Poschner and basketball forward Earl Davis to the Classic City.

As a freshman at the University, Morocco starred as a half-back in football, averaged 20 points a game as a freshman basketball player, and was first-string center fielder on the baseball squad.

He was scholastically ineligible for basketball as a sophomore, but returned to the squad in 1951. It was Zipper who filled in when one of Georgia's greatest basketballers, little Joe Jordan, was forced to the sidelines with a

STULB 'RECRUITING'

Strongest Field Seen For Titleholders' Golf

By BERT PRATHER

Tireless Eileen Stulb, Georgia's State golf queen and chief talent scout for Augusta Women's Titleholders tournament, seems bent on recruiting the strongest field yet for the 13th annual meet scheduled for Augusta Country Club March 13-16.

Latest communique from Titleholders' headquarters advises that Carrollton's Louise Suggs, winner of top money in her only two Florida circuit starts this year, has joined amateur Claire Doran of Cleveland, Ohio, and professional Betty Kinnon of Dallas, as the leading entries Miss Doran, runner-up to Babe Zaharias in '50, was the first official entry.

Miss Suggs, who seems headed for her best year as a money player, was forced out of last year's Titleholders at the last minute due to an ailing shoulder muscle. She won the tournament in 1946 and more than likely will be top favorite this time.

A field of 40 or better, which includes practically all the top flight amateurs and professionals eligible, is anticipated.

Louise's immediate objective is the first leg of the 1952 Weather-vane tournament scheduled for Normandy Isle Country Club, Miami Beach, Feb. 16-17. The 11th annual International mixed two-ball on Feb. 19-20 at Orlando's Lubbock road course will be her last tournament before Augusta. Toney Penna will team with her in the latter event.

Chief function on the local golf front this week will be the annual Atlanta PGA award dinner at East Lake Thursday night. National Amateur champion Dot Kirby, USGA sectional affairs committeeman Keith Coway and city and state Junior champion Lester Kelly will be presented plaques at the dinner for their contribution to Atlanta golf during 1951.

Fort Benning Officers Club will play a North Fulton golf team here next Sunday. Marshall Mauldin has arranged a barbecue chicken dinner for the participants Sunday night.

CHIP SHOTS: Hobart Manley Jr., the siege gun from Savannah, will defend his title in the National Tournament of Golf Club Champions at St. Augustine's Ponce de Leon golf course, February 19-24. Hekey set a course record of 65 on the morning round of his finals match with Valdosta's Dynamite Goodie Jr. last year. Incidentally, Dynlie was even par for 30 holes but lost 7 and 6. Mary Lena Faulk is scheduled to defend her Florida East Coast Championship on the same layout March 4-8. This course was really a happy hunting ground for Georgia golfers last year. Morton Bright of Atlanta teamed with Gordon Bullock, Jacksonville, an old-time Georgia Tech footballer, to capture the National Seniors Best Ball Championship there. They plan to defend March 18-22. Jack Murphy, former pro at La-Grange's Highland Country Club, was recently named president of Alabama PGA. He's now located at Birmingham. Frank Goss, who served as professional at Ft. Benning Officers Club for 20 years, has been signed by Green Acres CC at Vidalia. Frank is a brother of Danny Goss, Savannah's Bacon Park pro.

Robert Dupree figured his round at North Fulton Sunday was well worth his time. Robert holed out an eight iron from 145 yards out for an eagle two on the 370-yard eighth hole. His partners were Ed Hull and Al Lyle. The next Pro-Am tourney is scheduled for Paul Levin's Adams Park course Friday afternoon.

Other troubles included the disappearance of the trout, evidently they would not adapt themselves to the area's streams and had luck with the turkeys (unsuccessful hatching of the eggs and unsatisfactory poult raising). The fish situation has now been corrected by building ponds, and stocking them with largemouth bass and bream, and the club will make another turkey try, now that predatory animals have been cut down.

Actually, an idea that started out only as a game project eventually brought to Paulding County forest fire protection, rural electrification, improved soil conservation methods, and better schools and roads. The club's accomplishments were recently given significant recognition when he won Outdoor Life magazine's Conservation Award.

POT SHOTS: Thomas Herrington and George Slappy of Hawkinsville still refuse to tell how or where they caught 41-lb. string of 10 bass they were showing around town Wednesday. A fellow Palaski Countian, Linnie Thompson, latched on to a 24-lb. "cat" in the Ocmulgee River the same day.

The current issue of Hunter's Horn features on its cover Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Johnson of Savannah, posing with two of their prize hounds. Mr. Johnson will judge the Georgia State Fox Hunters Association trials at McKee, Feb. 4-5-6-7. D. N. MacLennan of Griffin writes that we need better as well as more game wardens. He says the five wardens he saw sealing at High Falls last week for restocking purposes were also dividing some among themselves.

Then, on a deer hunt in the Blue Ridge Mountains, in 1945, Corley told several companions of his idea to start a refuge in the Polk-Barlow-Paulding area. Though skeptical, they agreed to go along and soon went to work signing landowners who promised to control predatory animals, stray cats, dogs, foxes, bobcats, etc., and to allow no more hunting for five years (later extended two years).

Led by Messrs. Corley, Hollis Tibbitts, Gene Colbert, Bennie Jones, Joe Mathis and O. N. Black, the club began to win converts throughout the area. At its first meeting $1,400 was subscribed, $1,000 of which went for 20 deer bought from a private estate in South Carolina. Also, 100 wild turkey eggs were bought and the State gave the club 20,000 fingerling rainbow trout.

As Corley expected, the club ran into some snags. Some of its own members cheated on the no-hunting rule and nonmember hunters began slipping into the refuge. This problem was vigorously eliminated, however, when six members were deputized as game wardens by the state.

Other troubles included the disappearance of the trout, evidently they would not adapt themselves to the area's streams and had luck with the turkeys (unsuccessful hatching of the eggs and unsatisfactory poult raising). The fish situation has now been corrected by building ponds, and stocking them with largemouth bass and bream, and the club will make another turkey try, now that predatory animals have been cut down.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Although some minor baseball leagues are disbanding, and others are losing members, the class D Kansas-Oklahoma-Missouri loop has jumped from six to eight teams for the 1952 campaign.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors), said he was notified Sunday that Enid and Blackwell, Okla., had joined the K-O-M loop, and Independence, Kan., had replaced Pittsburg, Kan.

Reid Patterson Leads Bulldogs In Practice Assault on Records

(Bump Gabrielsen, Georgia swimming coach, said the other day that his team could break every record in the SEC provided sensational sophomore Reid Patterson could swim more than the routine three events. The Constitution gave Gabrielsen a chance to make his point. With sports writer Jesse Outlar and four other timers clocking the events, the Bulldogs unofficially bettered 11 records.)

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 3.—Thanks to a fine forestry school, Georgia has its best swimming team in history.

Reid Patterson of Pineville, Ky., entered Georgia to study forestry. He had never been in a swimming meet when Bulldog Coach Bump Gabrielsen spied him taking a leisurely plunge in the pool a year ago.

Now Georgia appears headed for its third straight conference title, and Patterson is considered an outstanding Olympic candidate. If the 19-year-old Patterson, voted the top freshman forestry student in '51, could swim in every event, Georgia would breeze to the SEC crown.

Last Saturday, in a practice assault on conference records, Patterson and three teammates bettered existing SEC marks in 11 of 12 events. They didn't shoot at the grueling 1,500 meter, for Patterson, after participating in nine events in four hours, was too exhausted to try.

The amazing Patterson unofficially shattered seven individual marks, and swam on relay teams that lowered two others. Teammate Charlie Guyer of Savannah shaved time off two records.

Gabrielsen, who has splashed the Bulldogs into the Southern swimming spotlight, says Patterson has faster practice times in all the events. But, even though he was pacing himself for the Iron man role, the sizzling sophomore was better than the book.

Here's Patterson's diary for the day.
50-yard freestyle—.23. Record—.23.3.
100-yard freestyle—.51.8. Record—.53.1.

220-yard freestyle—.3:15.7. Record—.3:18.
440-yard freestyle—.4:58.8. Record—.5:01.3.

100-yard backstroke—1:01.7. Record—1:03.7.
200-yard backstroke—2:22.2. Record—2:25.3.

150-yard medley—1:34.4. Record—1:35.4.

Guyer did the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:02.5, a fraction lower than his SEC record of 1:02.6. He covered the 200-yard distance in 2:29 compared to the official 2:31.9.

Charles Cooper, third ace in the Georgia deck, and Charles Sligh joined Patterson and Guyer on the 300-yard medley relay team and 400-freestyle relay. The Bulldogs reeled off a torrid 3:34.8 in the 400-yard event, almost seven seconds below the official 3:41.2. They did the 300-medley in 3:02.1, while the record is 3:06.

Gabrielsen says both Patterson and Guyer have good chances of gaining Olympic berths. He considers Patterson one of the greatest natural backstrokers that he has ever seen.

Patterson, only 19, may become one of the nation's greatest. If so, the bows belong to Gabrielsen, for Reid says the Bulldog mentor taught him practically everything he knows.

"My mother taught me how to splash around the pool in Pineville," he says, "and Coach Gabrielsen taught me how to swim."

The Georgia mermen have three meets this week. They take on Florida in Athens Wednesday and invade N. C. State and North Carolina over the week end.

At North Carolina, Bulldogs will be aiming at a long target. The Tar Heels haven't lost to a Southern team in 10 years.

Graduation Riddles City Quints, Taking Eight of Loop's Top Stars

By MARION GAINES

City League quintets, having shown they can hold their own against the state's best, settle down to family feudin' again Tuesday night, but several graduation-hit fives will be missing their brightest stars.

Leading the list cut down by mid-term graduation is Roosevelt's Ernest Massey, the city's most prolific point-producer and one of the finest cagers developed here in years. The lithe Massey racked up 207 points in nine games for a 23 point average.

The Crimson Tide which plays Sylvan Tuesday at Brown gym, also lost Richard Epps via graduation.

Brown's Rebels battle Smith Tuesday at the Smithies' gym and three of the city's finest will not be there. Smith lost 6-6 Allen Caple, whose work under the boards was invaluable, and the Rebs said goodbye to guard Roger Bolton and forward Ronald Dickson. Bolton, an excellent floor man, made the AA all-State team last year.

O'Keefe will be missing three players when it checks into Bass gym Tuesday for a go at the Blue Wave, Franklin Brooks, eighth in the city scoring, Bobby McCauley and Jimmy Rogers played their final games for the Irish last week.

The rest of the City loopers didn't lose any first-stringers and all will be in action Tuesday except Fulton. Other games are Murphy at Grady, West Fulton at North Fulton, and Northside at Southwest.

The local lads held their own during the week end against the South Georgia invasion and results showed little difference in the caliber of play of the two sections.

Kid Gavilan Stout Choice Over Dykes

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Kid Gavilan, "shaken" by a sleepless night in a howling storm, makes the second defense of his world's welterweight crown Monday night against handsome Bobby Dykes of Texas.

The weather bureau promised 70-degree temperature and a partly cloudy sky for the fight—in contrast, but promoter Peepleson squall Sunday night that rocked the Cuban's ocean-front cabin.

Gavilan stayed awake until the 65-mile-an-hour blow subsided at 5 a. m. He and his trainer had their belongings packed ready to evacuate the clapboard cottage at any instant during the six-hour blow that sneaked up on South Florida.

With good weather promised, promoter Maj. W. H. Peeples predicted a crowd of 20,000 fans who will chip in an estimated $100,000 for the first "mixed"—Negro vs. white—title bout in Florida's history.

A current strike of 750 bus drivers had the Miami-Miami Beach transit system straight-jacketed, but promoter Peeples didn't think this would nick a nickel from the fighters' purses, which will be filled with 37½ per cent of the gate for the Cuban champion and 17½ per cent for Dykes.

Clyde King Wins Leg on Trophy

Clyde King Jr. won his first leg on the Ted Tyle trophy Sunday by cracking 94x100 in the handicapped trap at the Capitol Gun Club.

Rhodes Perdue topped the skeet shooters with 48x50.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP) Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas, and Bee McWane of Birmingham, Ala., captured the Women's International four ball golf championship Sunday and became the first team ever to twice win the event.

Taking an early lead and squelching a late rally by the opposition, the Riley-McWane team, the 1949 champions, posted a 2-1 decision over Margie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., and Pat Garner of Midland, Texas.

The winners started the afternoon round with a 1-up lead and Miss Riley stretched it to three holes by taking the 19th and 20th with par fours.

Despite numerous chances to catch up, the Lindsay-Garner duo had to be satisfied with halving the next 10 holes. Both Pat and Marjorie missed putts which would have put them back in the running.

the Gators stamped for three "away" games this week. Outstanding developments last week were Kentucky's narrow defeat of Notre Dame, LSU's twin losses, Tennessee's return to form in two games, and Saturday night's informal reinstatement of boxing as a league sport. Fisticuffs marked both Alabama's victory over Auburn and Ole Miss' thumping of Florida.

Floors, Inc., Makes 'Glamorene' Available to Retailers Here

ANOTHER SHIPMENT OF GLAMORENE—With the announcement that Glamorene will be sold through retail outlets, Floors, Inc., distributor here, receives another shipment to meet dealer demands. Above, O. D. Echols and H. F. Briscoe unload the latest shipment.

For more than three years, the amazing home and institutional rug cleaner, "GLAMORENE," has been used by hotels, air lines, clubs, steamship companies, department stores and virtually every other type of business having great quantities of carpeting to clean. Now, this wonderful cleaner is available to homeowners through retail stores.

FLOORS, Inc., who are the wholesale distributors of this product, are proudly announcing an outstanding recognition of the merits of GLAMORENE. The February issue of Reader's Digest carries a complete report on the many wonderful advantages gained in the use of this product.

The Reader's Digest article points out that all you have to do is "just sprinkle on, brush in, vacuum 20 minutes later — and your rugs are cleaned." The article also reports that this new rug cleaner costs only a tenth of what professionals charge to clean a rug. Tests show that it doesn't shrink or fade rugs. It leaves no odor, gets out tough dirt like shoe polish, gets out stains from coffee or accidents, and actually keeps rugs clean longer.

Housewives by the millions are now demanding GLAMORENE for their homes. Dealers by the thousands have been buying it for stock in order to serve their customers.

FLOORS, Inc., 840 DeKalb Ave., N. E., wholesale distributors of GLAMORENE, are doing everything possible to take care of the unusual demand and welcome inquiries from department stores, hardware stores, rug dealers and other retail outlets. They are anxious to have the stores participate in supplying their customers' demands. Telephone CY 6986, or contact Floors, Inc., at the above address.

Appliances, Inc., To Distribute Vornado Air Conditioner

1st in Nation to Market Unique Air Conditioner

Any misgivings you might have about your comfort when sweltering summer weather arrives can be banished from your mind immediately. This is according to William H. Martin, president of Appliances, Inc., who last week signed the first distributor franchise in the country, placing on the Georgia market the new Vornado room air conditioner. The Atlanta distributing firm has branches in Augusta, Albany and Savannah.

Completely revolutionary in the air conditioning field, the Vornado air conditioner represents a distinct achievement in styling, features for cooling comfort and performance. Manufacturer O. A. Sutton Corp., whose Vornado air circulator was the first product in that field to put the old style electric fan into partial obscurity, now introduces the equally revolutionary Vornado room air conditioner and scores a double triumph.

"Appliances, Inc., is aware of the distinction in being the first to be awarded this distributor franchise," William H. Martin, president, said. "Our pride also stems from the knowledge that no other product in the air-conditioning field can equal this entirely new conception of home comfort found in the Vornado. Feature for feature, it far exceeds anything on the market. Truly, there has never been anything like the Vornado air conditioner, now making its first season debut."

In appearance, the Vornado room air conditioner, a 3/4-ton model, is a marvel in modern styling, creating an air of dignity in home or office. Dual tones blend harmoniously with any color scheme.

Projecting only 9 1/2 inches into the room, the Vornado requires less space than any other air conditioner. Controls are conveniently centralized—no doors to open.

Fully 20 per cent more effective cooling results from the superior air circulation features of the high velocity twin air directors, discharging 1,600 feet per minute. This assures proper circulation throughout the entire room.

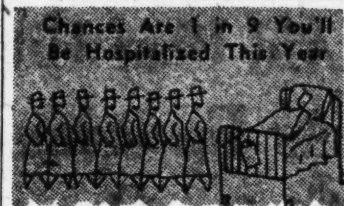

Twin squirrel cage blowers, superbly quiet, give deep penetration up to 30 cu. ft. per minute, nearly five times the rate of other models. Both blower and motor fans are resilient mounted, permanently lubricated and protected from thermal overload.

The Vornado air conditioner is engineered to give maximum efficiency and performance through a careful, balanced ratio of condenser, evaporator, resistor, heat exchanger, air flow and freon charge to compressor. Complete condensation control eliminates any possibility of dripping. The Vornado's entire system has been leak-tested with electronic leak detectors, sensitive to any leak that would pass one ounce of freon in 100 years!

Reliable dealers for the revolutionary new Vornado room air conditioner soon will be located in every section of the state. William H. Martin invites those who are interested in the availability of Vornado dealerships in their locality to phone Cypres 1781 or write to Appliances, Inc., 501 Stewart Avenue, S. W.

NATION'S FIRST FRANCHISE—Appliances, Inc., 501 Stewart Ave., S. W., is first distributor in U. S. to be awarded a franchise for the revolutionary new Vornado Room Air Conditioner. Merchandising history repeats, for seven years ago the first franchise for Vornado's now famous air circulator was signed in Atlanta. Signing is Wm. H. Martin, Appliances' president. Watching are, right, the firm's sales manager, J. H. Brown, and Robt. C. Simpson, district manager for O. A. Sutton Corp., Vornado manufacturer. Appliances, Inc., is now appointing Georgia dealers.

For New Beauty, Protection... Get Interstate's 'Dura-Wall'

Say good-bye to exterior maintenance expense for your home with "Dura-Wall," the remarkable waterproof finish that protects, modernizes and insulates your home.

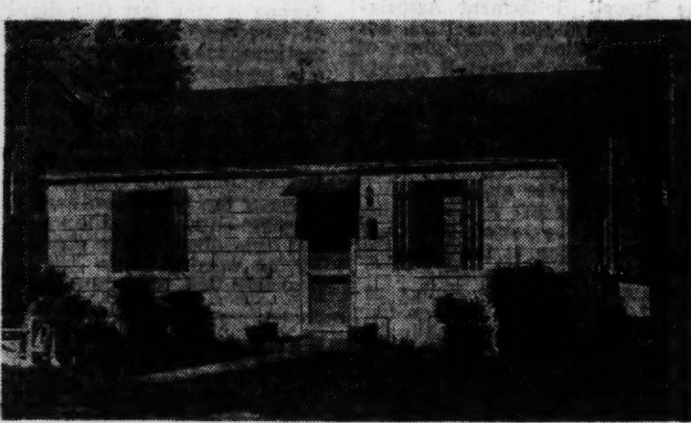

The Interstate Roofing & Siding Co., 496 Piedmont Ave., N. E., exclusive applicators for Dura-Wall in this area, announces that more and more homeowners and homeowners-to-be are turning to this "scientific way to make an OLD house into a NEW home." Dura-Wall has amazed property owners by retaining its good looks and protective qualities year after year without need of refinishing.

With sharp restrictions on construction already in effect, property owners find Dura-Wall the ideal material for use in prolonging the life of their existing buildings, both residential and commercial. Interstate's special equipment and trained crews are ready to offer immediate installation of this unique home improvement product to the sidewalls of your present building—or to the sidewalls of a new house now undergoing construction.

Dura-Wall combines an exclusive formula with the two ingredients, asbestos and mica—the two indestructible minerals—along with a new method of application to bring your house insulation, strength, protection and lasting beauty. Dura-Wall isn't brushed, isn't nailed—it's fused on, or "pressure-sealed" directly onto your existing sidewalls, thus coating the old exterior with a lasting, beautiful finish.

Dura-Wall is not a paint or a "paint substitute" which has to be done over every two or three years. In fact, it's 10 to 15 times thicker than ordinary paint... will not chip, crack or peel, and is a waterproof and fire-resistant covering used extensively for homes, apartment buildings and industrial plants—both old and new construction.

An outstanding feature of Dura-

BEFORE—Many homes of block stone construction, like the one above, are not weathertight and waterproof. Fuel and repair bills may be understandably greater.

AFTER—The same house after Dura-Wall has been applied. Dura-Wall is not a paint or a paint substitute, not nailed or brushed onto your original sidewalls—but "fused" on it. It insulates, beautifies and protects, cuts fuel bills and eliminates street noises. Call EM. 5636 or VE. 0894, evenings and Sundays, for full details. See story—Carl Dixon Photos.

Wall is its ability to adhere to practically any building surface. Wood, clapboard, stucco, concrete block, brick and metal—any type of sidewall is "made to order" for Dura-Wall.

The Interstate Roofing & Siding Co., one of Atlanta's leading home improvement and modernization firms, added "Dura-Wall" to their line of high quality services only after thoroughly testing it themselves. They apply this well-known product with confidence and recommend it to any home owner as a wise investment for the future. "Dura-Wall will last a house-time."

In addition to Dura-Wall, Interstate is also an approved applicator for Johns-Manville and Flintkote asbestos sidings and asphalt roofs. Interstate does complete remodeling of homes, both inside and out. They add rooms and make extra apartments out of attics and basements.

Liberal terms are featured by Interstate Roofing & Siding Co. on all their services. You can enjoy the pleasure and protection of Dura-Wall on easy monthly payments. Take up to three years to pay. If you desire longer your obligations under one payment plan, you may have as long as 15 years to pay.

For free estimates, call EM. 5636. If unable to call during the day, telephone VE. 0894, evenings, Sundays and holidays. A courteous representative will call at your convenience, day or evening. Or, write the firm at 496 Piedmont Ave., N. E., or personally visit their beautiful showroom and displays at this address. There is no obligation on your part.

Southern Senators Like Russell Over Kefauver

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Lanky Sen. Estes Kefauver's presidential ambitions are receiving the cold-shoulder treatment from many of the Tennessee's fellow Southerners in the Senate.

Sen. Kefauver Says He Can Beat Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP) Senator Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.) said Sunday he believes he can win the Democratic presidential nomination even if President Truman seeks re-election.

However, he said, "I've had the feeling" that Mr. Truman doesn't "want the job" again.

Appearing on a television program, Kefauver reiterated that he is in the campaign until "the finish," and said:

"I'm not running for the second place."

Even if Mr. Truman runs again and offers his backing to Kefauver for the vice-presidential nomination, Kefauver said, "I'm not interested at all."

The candidate agreed with a questioner that he hasn't received any great support from professional political leaders over the country, but he added:

"I have received a lot of grass roots support. . . . I think my strength is going to grow. . . . My hope is to get expressions of the people and get them to be on my side."

And, he said, "I have a feeling that the public wants to participate in selection of nominees."

MORRIS

mediate superior, J. Howard McGrath.

GOP MAKES HAY

Republicans were quick to pounce upon the fact that Morris in his endeavor to end the case that have embarrassed the administration now for many months, would himself work within the Justice department, one of the branches under recent critical purview by Congress.

Morris will take over the house-cleaning assignment as special assistant to McGrath.

The House judiciary committee has been planning for some time to conduct its own investigation of the Justice department and to inquire particularly into charges that McGrath and his aides have not been aggressive and diligent enough in handling tax frauds and other cases.

Potter added his own expression of no-confidence in the new investigator in a caustic reference to Morris' labeling himself a "Lincoln Republican." "I am confident Republicans generally do not consider him as such," said the congressman, calling the selection "a typical Truman-McGrath appointment."

QUESTIONS JUDGMENT

"If he cannot distinguish a Communist-sponsored organization, how can he be expected to identify corruption even if he is staring him in the face?" continued Potter.

The Michigan Republican said Morris was listed as a one-time sponsor of the American Committee on Yugoslav Relief, the Greater New York Emergency Conference on Inalienable Rights, and the New York Tom Mooney Committee.

He added that in 1939, Morris was a member of the Lawyers' Committee, the American League for Peace and Democracy.

The representative quoted the Daily Worker, the Communist Party newspaper in New York, as reporting that Morris had signed a 1946 statement by the Action Committee to Free Spain Now, and that he had addressed several meetings of the American Youth Congress.

All six organizations, according to Potter, are listed as Communist by the attorney general, the un-American activities committee, or both.

prisoner repatriation and airfields issue.

It was pointed out that the principle of free choice for prisoners versus forced repatriation is a basic difference between the two philosophies in conflict in Korea and the rest of the world. And neither side appeared willing to budge an inch.

Here are the main developments Sunday:

ACCEPT PAROLEING

1. The Communists accepted an Allied demand that war prisoners released after the armistice be put on parole not to fight again. But their nine-point prisoner exchange blueprint still opposed voluntary repatriation, and the Allies indicated the over-all plan would be turned down.

2. The Reds dropped their demand for control of five islands off the west coast of Korea south of the 38th Parallel—a demand the Allies already had rejected.

3. The Allies proposed unlimited rotation of troops during a truce, rather than a fixed number per month. The Communists prom-

The Dixie group, almost entirely opposed to another term for President Truman, is looking with cold disapproval on the Kefauver bid for the Democratic nomination which is stirring strong support in some parts of the country.

There is a large question at this point how much Southern support Kefauver will have when he goes to the Democratic convention. The 11 states generally grouped in the Southern bloc will have 286 convention votes out of a 1,230 total.

Individually, the Southern states' convention strength isn't great in the total. But when delivered collectively it forms a powerful bloc which would be useful to Kefauver or anyone else.

Here are some factors involved in the Kefauver situation:

1. There is a growing conviction among Southern senators that President Truman is going to seek another term in the White House.

2. These Dixie leaders say frankly (in private) they are not enthusiastic about Kefauver, and they fear his bid may be pushing Truman toward a decision to run, if in fact the decision hasn't already been made.

3. More and more pressure is being put on Senator Russell of Georgia to seek the nomination openly.

4. There still appears to be a strong possibility of a Dixie revolt if Truman again becomes the Democratic presidential nominee.

It is obvious that Kefauver's position would be strengthened greatly if he could go to the convention with the full support of the Southern delegates. But the attitude of a number of Southern senators—and their influence in their state organizations—will make it immeasurably harder for Kefauver to translate personal popularity into convention delegates outside his own state.

SEVERAL COMPLAINTS

There are several reasons behind the Southern coolness toward Kefauver. The chief reason is they feel, rightly or wrongly, he has been more sympathetic with the views of Northern Democrats than the southern Democrats—and has aligned himself with the Northern group.

It is true Kefauver has not identified himself with the Southern senators who usually present a solid front on matters relating to civil rights issues.

He is not among the "inner council" of Southern and rarely attends the southern caucuses where strategy is developed on important issues. He has been pretty much a lone wolf although supporting administration policy on many questions.

In the last Congress, Kefauver lined up with the Southerners against a fair employment practices act, one of the keystones in the Truman civil rights program. Still, that didn't bring him any closer to his Southern colleagues.

STILL ANOTHER REASON

After announcing as a presidential candidate, Kefauver said he would accept whatever platform the national convention adopts—a statement that irked Southerners who are opposed to a strong civil rights plank in the party's platform.

Long before Kefauver announced as a candidate for his party's nomination, a move was under way in the South to throw the Southern electoral vote to Russell in case Truman decides to run again and in the event Senator Taft of Ohio is the Republican nominee.

The idea behind this maneuver is that if Russell receives the South's electoral vote, neither Truman nor Taft will receive a majority and the election will be thrown into the House of Representatives.

Some Southerners believe an election in the House—where each state has one vote—would give Russell a good chance of being chosen over either Truman or Taft.

TALMADGE IN IT

The prime movers in the anti-Truman maneuvers in the South are Gov. James E. Byrnes of South Carolina, Senator Byrd of Virginia and Governor Talmadge of Georgia.

Russell's friends say he has made no commitments to them and is reluctant to become the rallying point for a Southern revolt against Truman. But they say he has not slammed the door against their efforts to enter him in the presidential sweepstakes.

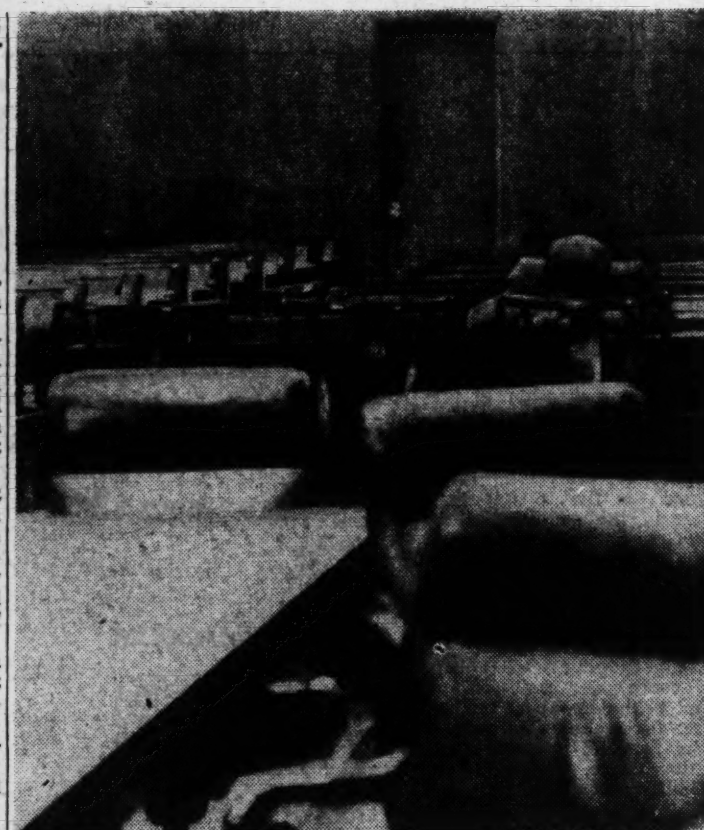

One Southern senator said: "We are drafting men to fight in Korea. I don't see how Russell can refuse a draft for the fight ahead of us."

How all this will actually affect Kefauver's fortunes remains to be seen.

Meanwhile, the tall Tennesseean is tackling obstacles with the same deliberate stubbornness which he displayed in making a name for himself in the Senate's crime investigation.

Allied authorities predicted that the withdrawal issue during the item 5 discussions.

The "recommendations" to be worked out presumably would be put on ice for consideration at a higher level peace conference to follow the signing of an armistice.

WEEPS FOR HUSBAND—ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 3.—Mrs. Bernard Martineau sobs after her husband is convicted of first-degree manslaughter by a district court jury. Martineau, former bartenders' union official, pleaded self-defense to charges growing out of the Nov. 3 shooting of Michael Ehrlich, 27, former boxer, of St. Paul. Martineau will be sentenced Monday. The penalty normally is five to 20 years in prison.

Aid Plan Hit ICKES As Favoring Status Quo

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Feb. 3.—(AP) James P. Warburg said Sunday night the United States should divorce its aid to underdeveloped areas from the struggle with Russia and support a co-operative aid program through the United Nations which would encourage revolutionary movements.

Warburg discussed foreign aid in the introductory lecture of the William J. Cooper Foundation lecture series at Swarthmore College.

The author and lecturer said the present U. S. foreign aid program is wrong in three aspects: (1) the whole program is clearly conceived as an aid to rearmament and to the containment of Stalinist expansion; (2) the program is strictly a U. S. program instead of being a co-operative one; and (3) it tends to support the status quo instead of aiding revolutionary movements.

Warburg said the figures clearly show that our foreign aid program is designed as an aid to rearmament and to the containment of Communism. Therefore, he continued, in terms of reducing injustice and inequality through social and economic development "this program of ours is utterly meaningless in its effect upon those vast, undecided masses of humanity whose allegiance and good will may ultimately be decisive."

Phenix City Morals Raids Round Up 14

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Feb. 3.—(AP) The Russell County sheriff's office revealed Sunday that 14 persons arrested in the county during the last four days will face charges involving prostitution under the vagrancy act.

At the same time, officials of the Russell Betterment Association indicated that the RBA has turned attention to other forms of vice and crime in Russell County besides gambling.

The association reported that it gave officers information which led to raids early today on a house in Russell County where vice arrests were made.

Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller said officers arrested two men and two women at the house, in a raid at 3 a. m. Sunday.

Meanwhile, Deputy Fuller reported, the FBI will question four men and a woman arrested in Columbus Thursday night to see whether they should be held on federal charges involving white slavery.

The five were arrested by Russell County officers with the cooperation of Columbus Police, and were placed in Russell County jail after voluntarily returning to Phenix City.

Even if no Federal charges are placed against the five they will face county charges involving prostitution under the vagrancy act, Deputy Fuller said.

The five are James W. Brown, 32; his wife, Joan, 19; Mariene Raye, 19; Emma Jean Ballard, 20; and Chessie Mae Watkins, 27; officers said, adding that all gave Meridian, Miss., as their address.

Arrested in the raid early Sunday were Carolyn Perry, 30; Joan Williams, 22; Lewis Williams, 30; and Johnny Frank Johnson, 19. The first three told officers they live in Columbus, while the latter is believed to be a soldier, said Deputy Fuller.

Also arrested in other cases were Winnie Gilbert, 30, and Frances Newman, 23, both of Columbus, charged with vagrancy; Louise Davis, 34, charged with vagrancy and drunkenness; and Jewell Smith, 21, and Mary Martin, 24, both of Columbus, charged with grand larceny, officers said.

1926-27 prices to weigh items in their production index figures.

The upshot of this analysis is a clear demonstration that Soviet data on industrial production and national income grossly exaggerate progress over the last 20-odd years. Food and basic products were kept in calculations at their 1926-27 prices, although by 1945 or so their prices actually had risen four to six times.

ENGINEERING PRODUCTS

Engineering products, however, which were either nonexistent or of minor importance in 1926-27, got into the index at home nearly their real prices during the latter years of the period and thus acquired a weight all out of proportion to their real importance in the economy.

Thus the production index has shown a continuous bias upward that has concealed the very slow improvement in the production of foods, consumer goods and many basic products.

This unrealistic method of calculation was changed in 1950. The new basis of weighing is not known, but the survey notes that a much smaller rate of increase in production is shown for the 1950-51 period, which suggests that somewhat more realistic weighting has been used.

NO INEVITABLE WAR

While a good many conclusions might be drawn from these facts, one that seems to be indisputable to the Russians is that Hoover's program is less likely to lead to a

Red Paper Corrects Hoover Talk Quote

MOSCOW, Feb. 3.—(AP) Pravda corrected itself Sunday.

At the bottom of the second page, under a headline: "Correction," the Communist Party organ noted a misquotation in its front page editorial Saturday on Herbert Hoover's radio speech in New York a week ago.

Saturday's issue quoted Hoover as saying Western Europe is "the last Gibraltar of freedom." Sunday's correction made it read the western hemisphere is "the last Gibraltar of freedom."

Pravda's correction is correct. What Hoover said was: "The first national purpose of this republic must be the defense of the final Gibraltar of freedom—and that is the western hemisphere." The change of the word final to last is probably that of a translator.

editorial that finds that Hoover's critique of United States foreign policy is based on realistic facts and when three other important factors may be a Soviet conviction that the United States is not irrevocably committed to the Truman foreign policy, which the Russians have many times stated will lead inevitably in their opinion to a third world war.

In other words, the Kremlin believes there are forces in United States radically opposed to its present foreign policy and that these forces are of such magnitude and importance that it is quite within the realm of possibility that they will succeed in changing the policy—changing it in a direction that Moscow believes should reduce the danger of a third world war.

LEAVE EUROPE

(Hoover attacked the policy of aiding Europe with United States ground troops, urging their withdrawal except for those needed to protect air bases.)

Pravda is understood to reason that in this year's election campaign in the United States President Truman's foreign policy inevitably will hold a central place.

The Soviet leadership, for example, is hardly likely to be ignorant of the fact that Hoover is not the only man in the Republican Party who holds the kind of opinions outlined by the former president. The fact is hardly likely to have escaped the Kremlin's monitor staff.

Senator Taft (Rep. Ohio), holds views that are not too dissimilar from those advanced by Hoover.

Thus it may be suggested that, regardless of the fact that Soviet spokesmen have repeatedly expressed the opinion that there is little or no essential difference between the Republican and Democratic Parties in the United States in the present situation, they find differences between the type of foreign policy advocated by President Truman or General Eisenhower and that put forward by such men as Hoover, Taft or General MacArthur.

While a good many conclusions might be drawn from these facts, one that seems to be indisputable to the Russians is that Hoover's program is less likely to lead to a third world war than that of Mr. Truman.

Another conclusion drawn by diplomatic observers from the foregoing analysis is that while both the Soviet foreign and Soviet domestic policy are conceived and executed with complete awareness of possible war dangers, neither of these policies has as yet hardened to the point where the Kremlin leadership feels that war and only war must be the outcome of present world tensions.

believe in atlanta...

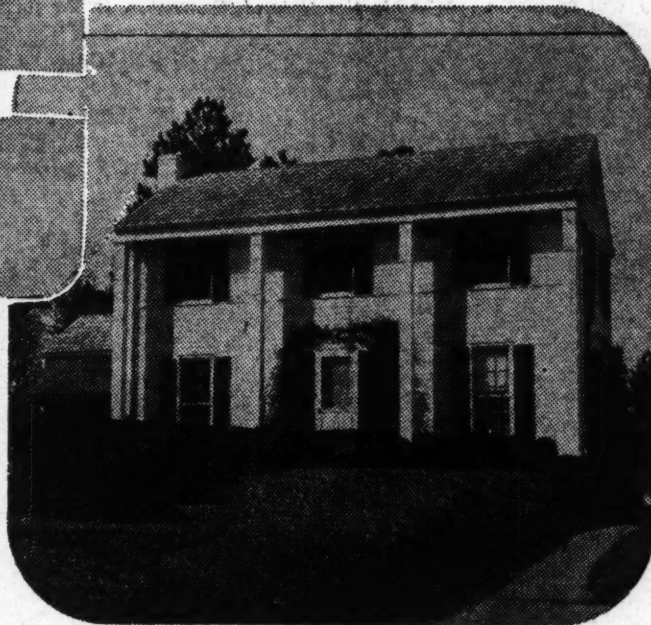

Atlanta has long been famous as a "city of homes," a name that is strengthened every day. Just as new industries and businesses find Atlanta an ideal place to settle, so do the people, many of whom underscore their faith by investing in the permanence of homes. Today approximately half of Atlanta's homes are owner-occupied, a 15% increase over that of 10 years ago. The past six years have seen almost 45 thousand new dwellings added to our city, a picture of progress in every direction . . . north, south, east and west. The tall-columned homes and bungalows of yesteryear have watched the low rambling ranch house come into prominence, as Atlanta continues to grow, building the homes that give a city its roots, evidence that the people, like Rich's, expect great things of Atlanta tomorrow.

Before returning to Atlanta, Mr. and Mrs. Diltz will fly to Havana for a visit.

Mr. Diltz and the former Mildred Adelle Hodges of Dallas, were married in Dallas on Feb. 14, 1924. The trip will celebrate their 28th anniversary.

MRS. W. G. PUTNEY and her small daughter, Margel Elaine, have returned to their home in Rydall, Pa., after a visit to the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Settle.

WHEN THE LATE Col. William Lawson Peel lived at the corner of Peachtree St. and Merritts Ave. some 87 years ago, there was a small white frame church next door on Merritts called the Sixth Methodist Church. Fifteen years later its congregation built a new church at the corner of Peachtree and Fifth Sts. and named it St. Mark Methodist Church.

Three of the members of the Sixth Methodist are still worshipping at St. Mark, and when the church celebrated its 50th anniversary last week, this trio was signally honored. They include Mrs. Lola Walker Clement, Mrs. H. M. Cheshire and Walter Fritz.

Present also for the ceremony were 10 of the 31 living charter members of St. Mark, including Mrs. G. Grobli, Miss Sarah Cowles, Mrs. D. O'Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Slaughter, Mrs. B. K. Clapp, Mrs. L. P. Rosser, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dent and S. G. Walker, who now attends Glenn Memorial Church.

Highlight of the occasion was the announcement that in another month St. Mark Church will be completely air-conditioned through the kindness of Mrs. George Walters, donor of the Frances Winslow Walters Chapel.

Garden Clubs

Rest Haven residents will find dining more cheerful in 1952, thanks to Country Hills Garden Club.

Members have selected as their club project the arrangement of floral bouquets at the home each month.

Plans will be furthered for the flower arrangement classes to begin Feb. 12 in the Buckhead building of the Georgia Power Co. Mrs. E. C. Houston, a national flower judge, will be instructor.

Wednesday's meeting will include a discussion on house plants led by Mrs. E. H. Atkinson.

Her two daughters, Mrs. Luther Jackson and Mrs. Elizabeth Perkinson, live in Albany.

The late Police Chief M. A. Hornsby appointed Mrs. Jenkins to her present position when she was widowed. Her staff includes Mrs. Effie Howell, Mrs. Maggie Baskin, Mrs. Lena Reavis and Mrs. J. T. Harden.

Absent One Misses Fun

Sometimes our household painfully reminds us of the little girl in South Georgia who always missed the fun at home. She went away to visit one week end and on her return her little brothers and sisters rushed out to meet her and told her they had had rice for dinner.

The visiting one stopped in her tracks and burst into tears. "Every time I go anywhere," she sobbed, "you all have something good! Last time it was apples. This time it was rice."

That's what happens to us. We had to work late that night. Some little old piddling legislative matter, it was. Susy tried to warn us. She called the office and we said hastily, "Call you back, honey. Busy now."

When we did call back she had nothing but sympathy to offer us.

"Mother, you're too late," she mourned. "We been having the BEST time. The Fuller Brush man was here!"

It was true. The Fuller Brush man arrived in time to contribute to what was, all things considered, a real big evening. That same evening Susy sold 19 boxes of Girl Scout cookies if you count, of course, the ones which Jimmy said were "expended for promotional purposes." (That is, fed to people Jimmy identified as prospective buyers but who later turned out to be his penniless friends.)

Anyhow, the Fuller Brush man came first and Bessie stopped ironing, turned off the fire under the supper and collected the children in the living room to watch him demonstrate his wares.

"Oh, he was the nicest man," they told us. "He brushed down the walls and dusted and mopped and showed off more fine brooms and brushes and things. And Bessie just kept admiring his work and acting astonished at the dirt he brushed up."

"Finally when he had the living room all clean Bessie asked him did he have any bathroom brushes. He said yes, but he acted tired so we just asked him if he had any samples and didn't bother him about cleaning the bathroom."

He did have samples and a sales patter which inspired Jimmy and Susan so they went right out and started using it on cookie customers.

"I hadn't thought about it," Susy said earnestly, "but if you keep talking people buy faster. I told a lady the cookies had molded-in-nylon bristles and she just said, 'Really? Well, give me two boxes.' Isn't that wonderful, Mother?"

We said it was wonderful but our sympathy was with the Fuller Brush man until Susy added, "You know, Mother, I think when I grow up I'll be a salesman. You get to go to everybody's house and you meet so many nice people and... well, you know it didn't take that man anytime to sell Bessie six brushes! She just told him to be sure and deliver them the day after payday when you'd be at home."

To make individual dessert rolls, cut a sheet of warm sponge cake into pieces of the desired size, spread with desired filling, and roll each piece of cake up. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and cool the individual rolls on a cake rack.

Peanut Candy Comes In 37 Crunchy Kinds

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD

Many unusual assignments often befall newspaper people but we'll waver this one was the "nuts."

We were asked to pull up a soft chair and eat our way through 37 varieties of peanut candies.

The only strings were that now and then we were supposed to stop long enough to refer to the team of accompanying descriptive material on generic names and tables of food values.

It was quite an experience, for we doubt if we could have named more than 10 varieties but oh, our aching belt.

The Confectioners' Association has joined hands with the peanut industry to celebrate National Peanut Week, Feb. 3 to 9. Georgia has much to gain from this "week" for she is one of the eight principal peanut-raising states in the nation.

Proof that Americans like "goobers" is that during 1951 nearly 550,000,000 pounds of shelled peanuts were eaten in the form of salted peanuts, peanut butter, peanut sticks, peanut candy and roasted in the shell.

Yet only about 60 per cent of the total peanut crop is used as human food; the balance is crushed into oil. The meal remaining from oil crushing, as well as the peanut vines, is used for livestock feed.

Of all the foods with just claims for nutritional fame, few have crammed into them the variety of nutrients as these little brown nuts. Noted for their energy-yielding calories, generous amounts of minerals and vitamins, peanuts can easily put many a more pretentious food to shame.

About one-fourth of the entire edible crop of peanuts finds its way to candy manufacturers whose imagination seems to have been endlessly challenged in finding new bars, rolls, clusters, squares and brittles to put them in.

Naturally we could not eat all the 37 varieties we were supposed to, so after a round of sharing at the office, we started

Miss Mackas Is Wed to Mr. Stathos

At an afternoon ceremony solemnized Sunday at the Greek Orthodox Church, Miss Helen Mackas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Mackas, was married to Harry James Stathos, with Father Panos Constantinos officiating.

After the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the Greek Community Hall at the church.

Miss Helen Mackas was the bride's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Vivian Economy and Miss Maria Priles. The bride chose for the ceremony a white satin gown and a tulle veil cascaded from a coronet of pearls. She carried a Bible topped with a white orchid.

cooking with some of them. Here are some ideas you may enjoy using:

1. Crush peanut brittle or solid peanut bars for a delicious, easy-to-make ice cream topping. The easiest way to crush it is to put it between layers of waxed paper and pound it with a mallet.

2. Melt 10 chocolate peanut clusters with 1/4 cup warm milk and use as a hot sauce on plain cake.

3. Melt peanut caramels, peanut brittle or chocolate peanut bars in the top of a double boiler with 1/4 cup milk and use as a sauce on fruit or bread puddings.

ST. JOSEPH ASPIRIN FOR CHILDREN

Amazing new "Face Lift" takes years off your age

A new cosmetic

There's a new cosmetic that gives the face a bracing, firming, lifting feeling. It tends to mold the loose, flabby skin of the face into the firm, taut lines of youth, to smooth away wrinkles, and to bring a wonderful glow to the complexion. You can feel and see it work against age lines to help hold back years from your face. Wonder of wonders! Jawline puffiness, mouth-to-nose lines, and that tired look really disappear.

Pour sufficient into the palm of your hand. It takes only seconds to apply this new flowing cream onto the face. Action begins at once. Learn how to "cup" your chin-line and how to massage this "face lift" around the eyes. As soon as this beauty liquid vanishes onto the skin, you are ready to apply your foundation and face powder. You will discover your make-up is smoother more even—will look more beautiful because your skin is firm, lifted, tight. This glorious effect lasts all day on all evening long. No one will ever know your secret, because this new "face lift" is invisible on the skin. That is how it gets its name, "Invisible Beauty Strap." Frankly, most "face lifts" give only temporary results, whereas Invisible Beauty Strap, by faithful use, helps to firm and tighten loose, flabby skin. You can have the greatest confidence in amazing new Invisible Beauty Strap because it is created by Frances Denney, the foremost corrective beauty expert. You will find Invisible Beauty Strap on sale in the cosmetic department of Davison's.

He offered to lend the Pres-ident what he said were his copies of FBI files on Nash.

In a recent Senate speech, Mc-Carthy said Nash, a presidential assistant, handling problems of minority groups, had close associa-tions with Communists in the 1940s. Nash denied it.

At his news conference Thurs-day, Mr. Truman said heatedly that the attack on Nash was the same line of attack the pathologi-cal Mr. McCarthy had used against all government employees he doesn't like. He called the Senator a character assassin.

McCarthy replied that the Pres-ident was guilty of name calling—a statement he repeated Sunday in a telegram to Mr. Truman ad-dressed to the White House.

As made public by the Senator's office, the telegram said: "I have you read the loyalty files of Nash, including the 10 excellent FBI reports?"

"2. Where did I misquote a single word of those reports?"

"3. Do you claim those FBI re-ports are untrue?"

"4. If you admit the FBI reports are true, why do you keep Nash on as your personal adviser?"

Korean Vet Slashes Woman, 'Feels Better'

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 3.—(U)—A 21-year-old Korean war veteran told police he "felt better" after slashing a middle-aged woman four times Sunday.

Police reported the victim, Mrs. Isabella Flynn, 51, was slashed with a pocketknife, once in the neck and three times in the ab-domens. She was in serious condition in a Louisville hospital but physi-cians said she would live.

Doomed Prisoner Beats Gas Death, Strangling Self

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Feb. 3.—(U)—In ten minutes—between guard checks—Gilbert Hernandez beat the gas chamber.

The 20-year-old San Diego death row inmate, condemned for murder in the slaying of a guard at Lancaster Vocational Institu-tion, Saturday night strangled himself with a strip of blanket in his cell.

In doing so he evaded extraor-dinary precautions that had been taken by prison officials after he set fire to his cell Saturday after-noon.

When he did that, officials de-cided to check on him every ten minutes.

At 9:30 p. m., they found every-thing normal. Ten minutes later, they found he had strangled him-self by tying a two-inch strip of blanket to the side of his bed, the other end noosed around his neck, and hanging back on it until he was unconscious.

Hernandez's execution date had not been set.

Vatican Stand of Truman Hit by Blanshard

President Truman's departing from American tradition that goes back to the "beginning of our country" by his determination to send an ambassador to the Vatican, Paul Blanshard, author and former State department official, said here Sunday afternoon.

Speaking under the auspices of "Protestants and Other Americans United" for separation of church and state, Dr. Blanshard added, however, that he was glad Truman had brought up the question because "now we can talk about it in the open." He said there was little importance to the actual appointment of an ambassador but the "principles involved" were what matter. Blanshard spoke to 2,000 Protestants and others at a mass meeting at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church, 1115 N. Peachtree St. His address was part of a nationwide series in which emphasis has been given to "Protestants and Other Americans United" for separation of church and state, Dr. Blanshard added, however, that he was glad Truman had brought up the question

Council. Blanshard was introduced by Bishop Arthur J. Moore. Blanshard explained that the important principles involved in the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican are "dangerous." He called the Catholic Church "a semi-political" power that is beginning to encroach on our way of life. He called the church "undemocratic" and "un-American" in its "dictatorship."

He made clear that the movement for separation of church and state doesn't want the support of anyone who "has a prejudice against the Catholics as individuals." He stated that the organization doesn't "question the right of people to belong to any church they want to."

Delayed Mail Brings Poem With a Punch

Chief of Police Arthur H. Schlussen, at New Market, N. J., just received a delayed bit of Christmas mail from his nephew in Korea. The nephew's buddy, Pvt. Darrell T. Rathbun, Co. H, 32d Regt., with a flair for rhyming, set down his impressions of the Christmas Eve he endured. Every American should read it:

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the tent, was the odor of fuel oil, (the stove pipe was bent). The shoe-packs were hung by the oil stove with care, in hopes that they'd issue each man a new pair. The weary GIs were sacked-out on the ridge-line, there rose such a clatter—a Chinese machine gun had started to clatter. I rushed to my rifle and threw back the bolt, the rest of my tentmates awoke with a jolt. Outside we could hear our Platoon Sergeant Kelly, a hard little man, with a little pot belly, "Come Yancey, come Clancey, come Goldberg and Watson, up Willie, up Sillie, up Bohn and Dodson." We tumbled outside in a swirl of confusion, so cold that each man could have used a transfusion. "Get up to the hilltop and silence that Red, and don't come back 'til you're sure he is dead." Then laying his thumb alongside his nose, Kelly took leave of us shivering Joes. But we all heard him say in a voice soft and light: "Merry Christmas to all; may you live through the night."

Dear Ed: As owner of a big plane and pilot, who has had the pleasure of taxi-ing some of the nation's great, such as Bernard Baruch, Gen. Marshall, the Rockefellers and other dignitaries around the air-lanes, may I indulge in some second-guesses on the Elizabeth, N. J., tragedy. I just don't think that a Convair, with the range it has, should have been allowed to mess around Newark Airport with a 400-foot ceiling. It could easily have gone back to Balti-

KNOW YOUR GEORGIA By C. J. Holleran

Simple and Effective

Today our country is infested with spies and traitors who work with calm assurance that a magnanimous judge will free them on some absurd legal technicality if they are caught. The founders of our republic had the same problem, but they solved it quickly and permanently. When Gen. Nathaniel Greene assumed command of American forces in the South he was quick to learn that success in the swampy wilderness of south Georgia depended on fast cavalry and light infantry. He appointed Col. James Jackson, the fiery Savannah patriot, to organize and lead a corps of this type. The British commander realized he was no longer dealing with the stupid Gen. Howe and offered great rewards to a group of the newly enlisted men to incite rebellion in the ranks and assassinate the colonel. But for the alertness and loyalty of Jackson's personal waiter, the plot would have succeeded. Dress parade without arms was ordered and before the traitors had any idea that the plot had been discovered, a company of loyal dragons jerked them from the ranks. They were tried and hanged before the eyes of the regiment as a reminder that the price of treason to the United States was death. It did not require a repeat performance to keep Georgia's record clear of any further attempts to "sell out" America!

Is Pyorrhea a Disease Or an Obsession?

In the first place, everybody should get out of his head the notion that "pyorrhea" is a disease of tooth sockets, gums or other mouth tissues, and the notion that it is due to "infection."

This outburst is inspired by a letter in today's mail. The correspondent says he had "nearly perfect" teeth up to the last two years, when two teeth became loose. His dentist made X-ray films (presumably of all the teeth) and told the patient he had "pyorrhea" and advised extraction of all teeth at once to save his health.

This was a shock—it would be a shock to any one only 30, 40 or 50 years old. So the patient consulted three other dentists, and all three advised him to have all his teeth extracted to save his health.

The exasperating part of it is that the correspondent does not say (1) whether the dentist found any particular trouble in or around any or all of the teeth that are not loose nor (2) whether the other three dentists knew that the first dentist advised extraction of all teeth "to save his health."

My advice to the patient was that treatment by a good dentist will probably correct whatever trouble may be present in the loosened teeth, and that even at this late day (the prospectively edentulous old codger is 38) correction of nutritional faults may do the tooth, gum or mouth condition some good. Ways of correcting such faults are described in the booklets Save Your Teeth and The 7 Keys to Vite—for either send 25c and stamped self-addressed envelope.

Many dentists will snort at my presumption, but it is my observation that dentists know little about the nature, cause, prevention and treatment of the condition they call "pyorrhea" and physicians know even less. So why shouldn't I tell 'em the facts of life?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed and addressed to The Constitution.

Damage Suit Lists Suicide, Asks $25,000

An auto accident, a suicide and three minor children are described in an unusual $25,000 damage suit pending in Fulton Superior Court.

Plaintiffs in the lawsuit are Thomas Nuce Jr., widower, and his three minor children—Thomas, five weeks; Helen, 18 months, three, and Susan Marie, 18 months. Robert Warren Hudlow is named as defendant.

According to the suit Nuce, his late wife and the two older children were driving south on the four-lane Marietta Highway last Sept. 25. Hudlow, the suit alleges, entered the highway from the Marietta Air Force Base Road and proceeded south at "approximately 30 miles an hour." He refused to clear either of two south-bound lanes "at this slow speed" and cars jammed up behind, the suit states.

After crossing the Chattahoochee River Hudlow moved to the inside lane and Nuce attempted to pass him in the right-hand lane, the suit alleges, whereupon Hudlow "became so upset and annoyed" at the defendant that he "suddenly and without notice, deliberately, intentionally and maliciously" locked fingers with the car Nuce was driving, causing it to be pushed off the road and overturned.

As a result, the suit claims, Mrs. Nuce—35 at the time—sustained injuries which caused her to "become irresponsible for her acts and insane and to shoot herself to death in the head on the 24th day of November, 1951."

The suit seeks $25,000 as the worth of the mother to the minor children.

HOW can people help
in the fight against higher prices?

By continuing to save — and urging government to save, too

The families of America are saving more now than at any time except during World War II.

They're saving at an annual rate of $22 billions—twice the 1950 rate, and almost eight times the rate in 1939! And this despite today's high taxes and high prices.

These savings must be kept up if we are to hold down inflationary pressures. Buying less means less demand and this helps keep prices from increasing.

But that in itself will not be enough.

Because government spending also affects prices, every individual should encourage the government to save. And while large spending is necessary now for our defense, government should make every effort to spend carefully and without waste. Then, too, individuals can help local, state and federal government save by not asking for any more services at this time and insisting on economy.

America's 86 million policyholders, through life insurance, are making America a better place to work in and to live in. They are providing for the future of their families and themselves. Their life insurance dollars are invested all over the country. And their healthy habit of thrift is one of the nation's strongest bulwarks against inflation.
